AXIS ENVOYS PACKING BAGS FOR EXODUS

Rio Conference Action Makes Them Unwelcome In South America.

AGREEMENT REACHED

21 Nations Ready to Sever Relations With Germany, Italy and Japan.

(By International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO—Axis diplomats throughout the length and breadth of South America began packing their bags today in realization that by Monday at the latest they will be persona non grata in this hemisphere.

Foreign ministers of the 21 American nations represented at the inter-American conference were to meet at 4 p. m., to consider a resolution severing all relations with Germany, Italy and Japan.

There appeared to be no doubt that it would be adopted unanimously. It may not be until Monday that binding signatures are penned to the motion, but the attitude of Pan-American nations toward the Axis and its aggressions is now clear.

The only South American capital where totalitarian representatives are likely to have ample time to say farewells is Buenos Aires.

The agreement reached last night permits Argentina, if she wishes, to delay rupture of relations until her congress convenes in May. It is considered likely, however, that acting President Ramon S. Castillo will break relations in March immediately after the presidential elections.

This much delay was all that Argentina actually stood out for when negotiations for rupture of relations began.

Although announcement of the agreement has not yet been published officially here or in Buenos Aires, reports of it circulated quickly and reached the ears of Axis representatives. Reports here from all South American capitals said unanimously that Hitler's men now regarded their cause in South America as a "gone goose."

All that the resolution now

Japanese Radio Propaganda Proves Greatest U. S. Navy Morale Builder—Because of Its Amusement Value!

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Japan's radio propaganda, particularly the Tokyo claims of non-existent victories at sea, is so screwy that it is defeating its own purposes, as the following dispatch from Ralph Jordan demonstrates. In fact, Jordan remarks, the Tokyo radio is the "greatest morale builder" in the U. S. fleet because of its amusement value.)

By RALPH JORDAN
(INS Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD A MAN-O'-WAR, With the U. S. Pacific Fleet—You could have knocked a few eyes off with a stick the way they were popping—that's how amazed the officers and men were—had you been aboard the heavy cruiser from which this dispatch is being written.

This correspondent, with several of the ship's personnel, was standing at the rail of our craft as she ploughed through far western waters searching for Japanese or other hostile forces.

We were looking at a vessel accompanying us. She wasn't much farther away than a small boy could hurl a rock with a good slingshot. She was sailing along beautifully.

From inside our ship a radio was blaring. It had picked up a Tokyo short wave broadcast and this was what we heard, word for word:

"We sympathize with the United States upon the loss of the huge aircraft carrier Lexington, the greatest carrier in the world.

"First it was the Langley, next the Enterprise and then the Lexington. Now there is only the Saratoga left."

Eyes popped at that assertion because the ship we were watching was the Lexington. And if she were lost, she certainly didn't know it and didn't act like it.

She was as busy as an old mother hen

Empire Troops Smash at Japs Through Jungle

Crucial Fight for Singapore Rages as Nipponese Bring Up Reinforcements And Renew Attacks on MacArthur Troops on Batan Peninsula.

BULLETIN

MELBOURNE, Australia—(AP)—Rabaul, capital of New Britain, reported today that eleven ships, including warships, had been sighted off neighboring Watom island, and immediately following this report communications with Rabaul ceased.

(By Associated Press)

A critical, perhaps decisive battle raged in the Malayan jungles 70 miles north of Singapore today as British, Australian and imperial Indian troops launched a major counter-offensive to smash the main Japanese invasion armies in the Muar river sector.

On the Philippine battlefront, a war department bulletin said that Japanese troops on Luzon island—already estimated to number 200,000—were being reinforced and that the invaders were again heavily attacking Gen. Douglas MacArthur's fiery defenders.

The communique reported sea-borne Japanese troops were being landed in Lingayen gulf, 110 miles north of Japanese-held Manila, and in Subic bay, near the approaches to Batan peninsula.

As evidence of the toughness of Gen. MacArthur's little band, the entire Japanese 14th army and a number of other units were officially reported now operating on Luzon island.

"The Japanese are renewing their attacks all along Gen. MacArthur's line on the Batan peninsula," the war department said.

"Particularly heavy fighting is in progress on the left and the center."

In Malaya, it seemed apparent that a crucial test in the struggle for Singapore was in progress.

Behind the lines, British fliers claimed a heavy toll of Japanese transport columns north of Parit Bulong, destroying many vehicles and machine-gunning troops.

Singapore itself, under almost incessant aerial assault, grimly counted a toll of 304 killed and 725 wounded in yesterday's 100-plane Japanese attack—comparatively surpassing the worst raids on London at the height of the blitz.

A communique said 625 wounded were admitted to hospitals and 100 others treated at first-aid posts.

But the beleaguered island colony was cheered by the arrival of powerfully-gunned Hurricane pursuit fighters, and when 30 Japanese warplanes roared over Singapore again today RAF fliers were credited with shooting down five bombers and damaging a fighter.

Coincidentally, a Chinese army spokesman reported that fear of attack by Allied bombers had spurred 30,000 to 40,000 Japanese to leave parts of Japan for Shanghai and other centers along the lower Yangtze valley.

In the Dutch East Indies, where Japan's far-flung invasion hordes are striking in heavy force, the

CITY ACTS TO ORGANIZE 500 RAID WARDENS

Ward Leaders Appointed As Legion Furthers Plans for Bomb Precautions.

Mansfield today had taken definite steps toward the organization of an army of 500 air raid wardens to warn and protect Mansfielders in the event of an aerial invasion.

Appointment of raid wardens and an assistant in each of the city's six wards was made last night by Sam F. Fox, Mansfield Legion commander and chief air raid warden. C. L Myers was named assistant chief warden The appointments were made at a meeting of the Legion post members

Faye Fairman was appointed air raid warden of the First ward with Ralph Hughes as assistant and other appointments included: Second ward, Earl Saltzgaber, warden, Clarence Schill, assistant; Third ward, W E. Bradford, warden, M Rowe, assistant; Fourth ward, Fred Roth, warden, W. B. Blank, assistant; Fifth ward, Fred Miller, warden; Sixth ward, Russell Moore, warden, Roy Bates, assistant.

Air raid wardens for Greater Mansfield have not been appointed with the exception of Frank Cave as warden for Roseland and they are to be named later, Fox said, along with an assistant warden for the Fifth ward.

Later the several hundred men needed to give the city 24-hour air-raid protection in the event of an emergency will be drawn from the ranks of former servicemen at the request of civilian defense officials, Fox explained.

Before this contingent is established the ward wardens and assistants will complete their training in the Red Cross first aid instructors' course that will be launched next Tuesday night under the instruction of Bernard C.

GRANTS BOOST

ICC Tells Railroads They Can Up Passenger Fares.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The nation's railroads held official authority today to raise passenger fares 10 per cent to meet increased wages and operating costs.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, acting upon urgent pleas of the carriers, granted the increase which it is estimated would yield an extra $45,000,000 on the basis of last year's revenues.

The fares probably will become effective between Feb. 1 and Feb. 4. Application for a jump in freight rates by the same percentage still is pending before the ICC. The passenger fare increase applies to all except the 1¼ cents a mile rate for service men on furlough, and on extra fare trains.

CRASH KILLS 3

Arsenal Worker, Two Companions Die In Auto Accident.

AKRON —(UP)— Two young women and a Ravenna arsenal worker were killed last night when their automobile hit a utility pole and rolled over against a tree.

The victims were Amelia Jean Fabsevac, 21, hat check girl at an Akron night club; Mrs. Lillian Hoffman, 23, an employe of the B. F. Goodrich company, and Joseph Mattucci, 20, a worker at the Ravenna arsenal.

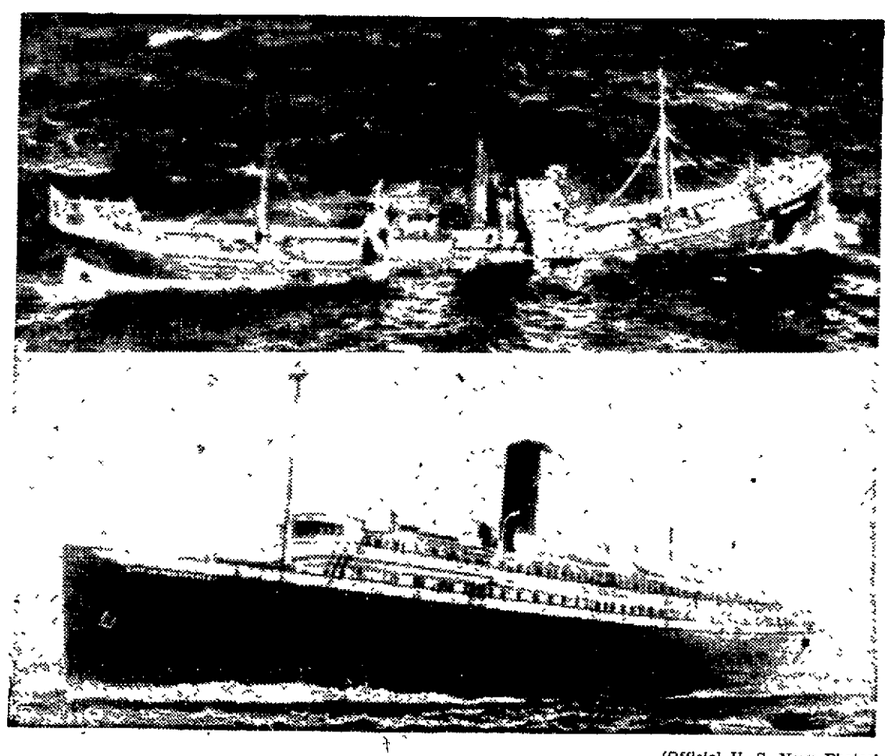
Nazi Atlantic Subs Take 5th, 6th Victims



(Official U. S. Navy Photos)

The fifth and sixth victims of the submarines now terrorizing the Atlantic coast shipping lanes are the Latvian steamer Ciltvaira, shown in top photo after it had been torpedoed "somewhere off the Atlantic coast" and abandoned by its crew in a sinking condition. The sister ship of the City of Atlanta, the American ship which was torpedoed and sunk off Cape Hatteras, N. C., is pictured below. The navy reported 46 crew members of the City of Atlanta are dead and missing, the largest toll yet suffered by any of the ships attacked.

U. S. WAITS FOR SUB VENGEANCE

Navy Promises Good News as Nazis Sink Six Ships, Kill 75 In Week.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Americans waited patiently today for details of U. S. navy retaliation against German submarines which in a week have attacked six merchant ships almost within sight of the Atlantic seaboard and brought death to at least 75 seamen

The navy has assured the nation that "good news" will be forthcoming to counteract the week of "bad news" about Atlantic shipping. All available naval units — vessels and aircraft — are striking savagely at Hitler's "rattlesnakes" It was believed that when the navy considers the time is right to tell its story, the price German submarines have paid will more than offset the recent attacks.

Late yesterday the navy report-

LONDON—(INS)—Charles J. I. M. Welter, former colonial minister of the Netherlands government in London, has been appointed member of the "eastern supply council group" representing the Netherlands, it was announced today.

Welter is expected to leave for the council's headquarters at Delhi, India, shortly, it was declared.

CITY PROFITS

Makes $330 On Breakdown of Pumping Station Motor.

Mansfield was $330 richer today because of the breakdown of one of the motors at the Maxwell Springs pumping station yesterday. In addition the motor has been repaired at no cost to the city.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said today that the 200-horse-power motor which burned out yesterday was put back into operation last night, 33 hours after it had stopped.

Crafton said that although the motor ran one of the city's largest pumps that there had been no danger of a water shortage. Auxiliary pumps kept up the supply in the Woodland reservoir.

The city will collect $10 for every hour that the motor was down as the result of insurance which the city renewed at the first of this year. The insurance company also paid for repairs to the motor.

Nelson Sends War Production Task Back to Whole Country

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Washington awoke today to the realization that Donald M. Nelson is giving the war production job back to the whole country.

Nelson's announcement that he intended to establish a field service as a seventh and new major division of the war production board which he heads was regarded here as a step toward decentralizing the war effort.

Officials said such a move, sending WPB men into the industrial centers of the country where the battle of the assembly lines is being fought, would shortcut a great part of the delays caused by paper work, letter-writing and the necessity of calling manufacturers to Washington to discuss production and conversion problems.

Nelson said he had not yet decided "how much responsibility will be here and how much out in the field." However, the high place accorded the proposed field service in his organization scheme was taken as clear indication that he intended to delegate to it a good share of the decision-making power heretofore reserved for Washington alone.

The field division will compare

LOOT 4 CARS OF TIRES, WHEELS

Thieves Start Fresh Wave of Thefts; 82 Cars Robbed Of Tires In 1941.

A new wave of automobile tire and wheel thieves hit Mansfield last night with thieves taking tires from at least four cars.

Police reported that seven tire thefts had been reported since the beginning of the year. Thieves stole 82 tires and wheels during 1941.

Members of city council said that they were taking steps to have legislation calling for a heavier penalty for tire theft.

George C. Kyle said that he was conferring with City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner and would pattern his ordinance after one passed earlier this week by Lorain's city council. Lorain provided a $999.99 fine and a jail sentence of 11 months and 23 days as a maximum penalty.

SCHOOL HOUR CHANGE LOOMS FOR MANSFIELD

City, School and Bus Company Officials to Study Problem At Session Today.

A change in Mansfield school hours to alleviate the crowding of city buses and inconvenience to workers in defense plants in the early morning was being considered today.

The problem of bus crowding was to be discussed at a meeting at the city building this afternoon of Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller, Service-Safety Director C. M Crafton and G. F. VanTilburg, superintendent of Mansfield Rapid Transit, Inc.

It was understood the bus company suggested a "different arrangement" so that more buses will be available for transporting workers in plants handling defense orders to speed up production.

Under the present set-up, the city bus system is overtaxed between 7 and 8 a. m. on weekdays when pupils are going to school and industrial and office workers are riding the buses.

VanTilburg said he would have "nothing definite worked out" until he has conferred with school and city officials and E L. Hukill of Newark, vice president and assistant general manger of Mansfield Rapid Transit, Inc. Hukill was expected to be here within a day or two to discuss the problem with school and city officials.

Supt. Miller said the schools "want to comply as nearly as we can with any plan that is worked out even though it my cause some inconveniences and hardships."

He said he had not discussed the matter with VanTilburg or any representative of the bus company. The superintendent estimated that 300 pupils ride the city buses to and from school daily.

'BLACKOUT'

Smog Perils Early Morning Traffic In City, Area.

A dense cloud of smog shut the sun out of Mansfield today and gave the city its fifth consecutive day of dark, dreary weather.

The clouds left a trace of snow during the night, but there was no precipitation today. Wartime censorship kept the weatherman from saying whether there is better weather in sight for tomorrow. All he could say was: "Somewhat colder tonight."

Temperatures hovered around the freezing mark, averaging 30 degrees for the past 24 hours which is five degrees above normal. It was 30 at noon today. The low last night was 28.

The mixture of fog and smoke forced motorists to use their lights well into the morning and drive slowly to avoid mishaps.

RETURN TO JOBS

1500 Defense Workers Go Back Following Fire.

CLEVELAND —(INS)—Approximately 1500 defense workers were returning to their jobs at the American Steel and Wire company in Cuyahoga Heights today following a fire which broke out in the power house yesterday, halting work temporarily.

The blaze, which started in oil used in the cooling system of the transformers, cut off all power to the plant which is filling large steel orders for munitions.

FLIER KILLED

Military Plane Crashes Near Base In Florida.

MIAMI, Fla.—(INS)—Lieut. Roy W. Williams, 33-year-old navy flier and former Eastern Airlines pilot, was killed late last night when his military plane crashed near Opa-Locka air station, naval public relations revealed today.

A board of inquiry today prepared investigation to determine cause of the crash which occurred during a routine night flight.

PURSUIT: Reds Chase Germans As British Prepare Offensive

(By Associated Press)

Russian troops slashed at the rear guard of Adolf Hitler's retreating German armies seven miles west of Mozhaisk today, while in London Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair declared that the British army now was organizing "the greatest possible striking force for offensive operations on the European continent."

Sinclair gave no indication whether a British counter-invasion was imminent. London newspapers and other critics for weeks have been clamoring for action, and British officials have frequently mentioned the restiveness of the 2,000,000 army regulars and 2,000,000 more guards long held in readiness to combat any attack on the island kingdom itself.

On the North African front, British troops who had swept more than 300 miles across the Libyan desert in pursuit of Gen. Irwin Rommel's armies met their first setback in the two-months-old counteroffensive.

Cairo headquarters acknowledged that three strong Axis columns made a 10-mile 'reconnaissance in force' into British positions yesterday below Mersa Brega, a coastal town on the Gulf of Sirte, about halfway between Agedabia and El Agheila.

Agedabia is 70 miles northeast of El Agheila.

"Our light forces, which had been harassing the enemy since his retirement from Agedabia withdrew, maintaining contact with the enemy throughout the day and inflicting casualties upon him," British headquarters said.

The German high command's version asserted that Axis armored columns drove the British back in a surprise attack and declared

SHELLED: Nazi Channel Guns Attack Dover for Four Hours

(By International News Service)

DOVER, Eng.—For four hours and 15 minutes, German long-range guns on the French side of the English channel hurled shells into war-scarred Dover today.

And injured one person.

It was the first time in many months that this historic town of Britain's "invasion coast" had caught the attention of the enemy.

The first shells came over singly at from 10 to 20 minute intervals. Then the Nazis began firing in double salvoes and among the missiles flung more than twenty miles across the turbulent channel were shrapnel shells.

Some damage was done to civilian property, but Dover's military defenses are no longer vulnerable and the town's chief landmark and target, the Grand hotel, was bombed to rubble months ago.

Dover took the attack in stride. The "alert" sounded when the first shell crashed and the "all clear" did not come until four and a quarter hours later. The majority of the population took to cover in accordance with regulations, but tired of safety after a while and emerged into the streets.

Buses continued running, banks and business houses stayed open and housewives did their shopping.

The enemy apparently was firing on a set range as no reconnaissance planes appeared. Just what they were after was anybody's guess.

Uncertain Destiny + + + + + +

By Betty Webb
(Copyright 1942)

CHAPTER XV

"Linda, I can't begin to tell you how happy I am for you both," she said. "Steve, you are lucky to have such a charming person for a wife. Isn't she pretty?"

"Very pretty," he agreed, smiling, but his eyere were unfathomable. Then, with an attempt at jocularity, "Suppose we have breakfast now, Mary. After all, you are holding up the wedding trip, you know, and I'm an impatient bridegroom."

His eyes chanced to meet Linda's as he said that, and she felt color suffusing her fair skin. Bridegroom! The sudden silence was awkward and strained before Mary's light laughter broke the spell.

"But of course," she murmured, linking her arms through those of Linda and Steve. "How foolish and thoughtless of me to keep you waiting, when you're anxious to get started. We'll have breakfast immediately."

Facing Mary across the breakfast table, Linda struggled to keep Steve's words—"Keep your chin up"—uppermost in her mind, for Mary wailed. "I simply can't keep up with all these weddings First it was Betty, and then Brenda, and now—you, Steve. Am I destined to be an old maid? What will I do without you?"

Despite her apparent acceptance of their love for each other Mary sensed, Linda felt certain, that things were not as they should be, and yet she gave no sign that she suspected While Steve sat quiet, almost grim, Linda shy and embarrassed. Mary's conversation bubbled on and on, describing the farm, the horses, touching on Steve's book proudly.

"Please make him stick with it, Linda," she pleaded, wistfully. "Father and I are terribly proud of his ability, although it seemed for a time that he would never be a novelist. Those were the days when the high and mighty Brenda—"

"That's enough, Mary'" Steve fairly lashed out at his sister, and her lips parted in amazement. All the color fled from Linda's face. This was truly an awkward situation, for while she doubted that Mary would have said anything unkind about Steven's former fiance, his actions—his angry face gave him away.

"I'm sure Steve doesn't mean to be unkind" Linda put in hastily, gently. "It's just that I'm terribly jealous of—of my new husband, and—"

"And why bring up the old family skeletons?" It took an effort for Steve to say those words so lightly but Mary's face cleared. "I'm terribly sorry," she murmured. "It was careless of me"

The subject was instantly dropped, but Linda was vastly relieved when, at last, they rose from the table to get started on their way to Hillsacres. That last hour had been a desperate one in which Steve's eyes had warned her not to say too much, to drop too many words that might arouse Mary's slight puzzlement to actual distrust She adored her brother, and Linda knew that should she suspect anything drastically wrong in their relationship she would fight tooth and nail to win him back

Standing in the hall as they said their farewells, Linda pretended not to see her own familiar bags being placed in the car, mute testimony that Steve had seen and talked with Diane; nor did she allow her thoughts to dwell on what their conversation must have been. Instead, she kissed Mary, took her place beside Steve in the warm, closed car and turned a sober, saddened face toward the future—to the uncertain destiny awaiting her at Hillsacres.

During the long ride to Hillsacres—the highways were covered with ice and snow and necessitated slow and careful driving—Linda became acquainted with Steve Baridon, the man she had married.

She learned that his father's fortune had been swept away in the crash of 1929, and everything had been sold with the exception of the old Chicago house, the farm and a few of the horses, to make up the loss. Steve had gone to work then, as reporter on a Chicago newspaper.

Despite his drawling, easy speech, Steve was an excellent conversationalist, and Linda listened attentively.

"When father realized none of us was really equipped to lick the business world, he turned our horses into a money-making venture. All of us are horse fanciers and Mary and I were born to the saddle. By careful training Dad's horses mastered enough showmanship to be entered in shows, and Mary rides as a society horsewoman.

"That proved to be our salvation, and while there isn't a fortune in it, still we were able to keep our heads during the depression. Now Dad is down south with the champions for the winter, because the exhibitions start in the east next spring and he wants them to be in good shape."

He went on thoughfully: When Brenda realized that I was only a fifty-a-week reporter," his voice was bitter, "she began looking around for better prospects. I had ideas about finishing my book and making enough money to satisfy her expensive tastes, but she wouldn't wait."

Linda changed the subject hastily, realizing that to continue talking about the former fashion model—for that had been Brenda's vocation until she met Jerry Coleman—might prove disastrous.

"You said there are caretakers at your farm Are they expecting us?"

"Mr. and Mrs. Delaney take care of the farm," he answered. Mrs Delaney does the cooking and housework, and Jim looks after the horses and keeps the place in good shape. I called them early this morning to expect us."

"Have you forgotten anything?" she asked anxiously when. Steve told her they were nearing the farm. "Did you bring your portable typewriter and plenty of paper?"

"You sound like a wife," Steve grinned.

Linda flushed. "I—I hope I'll be a satisfactory stenographer," she faltered. "A role of this kind is new to me."

"If you're not afraid of good, hard work," he said smiling, "I'm sure you'll do very well. Once we get some sort of system arranged we can accomplish a great deal on the book."

He glanced at her. "Do you ride, Linda?"

"Not very well."

"You'll learn," Steve's voice held a ring of confidence. "Wait until you see Rusty and Challenger, and Old Topsy."

"Are those the only horses on the farm?" Linda asked "If so, Topsy sounds like my speed."

"Dad is with Cavalier and Patrician. They're thoroughbreds. So is Challenger, for that matter, but he's mean—dangerous. We've never been able to master him. You should have seen the first Rusty." His voice sounded wistful "The most beautiful horse in the country."

"Your story centers around the life of that horse, doesn't it?"

Steve nodded. "Around Rusty and my Mother. She loved horses and was a real horse-woman. One of the main reasons Dad hung onto the farm was because she loved it so. Rusty was her horse"

"I—I understand your mother died when Mary was born That must have been a terrible shock to your father, Linda said quietly.

The man nodded. "I was nearly twelve when—when it happened"

They were silent for a long time, and then Steve said proudly. "Little Rusty will be every bit as fine a horse as his old man. Wait and see" There was a comfortable sound to his words, almost as though she, too, belonged to Hillsacres. Linda thought wistfully, and she looked eagerly at the farmhouse as they rounded the hill and drove up the wide drive to the front door.

The farmhouse proved to be old and rambling, and yet as beautiful as Steve had described it. Sitting high on a now barren hillside, against a group of skeleton trees, the house—half old red brick, half weather-beaten frame—seemed to invite inspection.

In the rear and down the hill, yet clearly visible from the front, Linda could see the well-kept stables, and the figure of a man, pausing in the doorway, who waved in friendly fashion as he stared up the path to greet them. This was Jim Delaney. He and his wife proved to be good-natured farm people, eager to please their employer and his bride.

Linda was introduced to the pleasant old house, modern in every respect, and gay with chintz and fine, old pictures. The library charming her with its book-lined walls, the carved desk set in a huge bay window, and a stone fireplace in which a small fire burned cheerily.

Without hesitation Steve gave her the room that had been his mothers, and with her eyes filled with tears Linda surveyed the room that was to be her haven and refuge in times of need. Without doubt Corinne Baridon must have been a wonderful person. Linda decided. Her bedroom revealed a quiet, select taste from the huge, canopied bed to the tiny figurines over the wide mantelpiece. The books on a small writing desk were in all probability books she had known and loved, for they were well worn, yet carefully handled.

Touching them gently, Linda whispered, "What do you think of me, Corinne Baridon? You were a wonderful person—a devoted wife and mother. Does it break your heart that I married your son, or have I saved him from something far worse?"

Then, suddenly, Linda said, half-aloud, "I won't fail you, or Steve either. I'll give him back self-confidence and pride. I won't let his life be wasted—the life that you gave him. Someday you shall be very proud of Steve, as proud as he is of you!"

From the very first, however, Linda had little time to inspect the farm, for no sooner were they settled than Steve had pulled his typewriter from its case to a place on the library desk, thrust the familiar pipe between his teeth, and was ready for work.

However, this determination was short-lived, for Steve's amiability was soon replaced by dejection. Sometimes he sat for hours without writing a word, his eyes bleak, shoulders hunched in a gesture of defeat.

On these occasions he exclaimed pathetically, "I was wrong, Linda, to think I'd ever be able to write I can't do it I can't."

"Of course you will," she answered valiantly. "There's no hurry Steve. We have plenty of time. Think it out carefully." She sensed that his despondency was brought on by thoughts of Brenda, and she had little time to think of her own bitterness and heartache.

For Linda, the next few weeks were particularly trying as she attempted to establish some sort of harmony between them. Many times she knew that he resented her presence On these occasions he was curt. Although impatient, she worked quietly on his notes, revising, deleting; and gradually Steve's interest in his work returned.

Soon he was working furiously, and Linda was kept busy all through the day and sometimes far into the night as chapter after chapter took shape. Steve seemed to possess superhuman strength—a frenzied desire to finish the book And for what? Linda wonderd, dully. When it was finished—what then?

As time went on and the story grew, she learned to love Rusty, the copper-colored horse, to know and understand his gentle mistress This was a love story, a novel that wove through death, happiness destruction—an entire generation of intense living.

There was little actual conversation between Linday and Steve during those first few weeks aside from a discussion of the book. At the start their association was rather like that of employer and employe. As soon as her working day was done and dinner was over, Linda escaped to her room, but her thoughts were frightening—filled with the remembrance of Greg and all that had happened.

"Perhaps it is equally hard for Steve," she thought one evening when the solitude of her bedroom seemed more than she could bear. "Perhaps we can help each other—to forget."

Quickly, before she could weaken in her resolution, Linda brushed her hair carefully, powdered her nose, and then, wearing the houserobe of soft blue velvet which had been a wedding gift from Mary, she went down to the livingroom, stricken by the sight which met her gaze. Worn and little sleep, Steve had fallen asleep upright in his chair, with the notes of the last week's work, scattered on the floor around him. The bright lamplight shone on his face, revealing haggard lines and pallor.

"He looks almost ill," Linda decided, and was doubly thankful that she had come downstairs. Hastily she went to the kitchen for hot tea, arranged the tea things carefully on the table before the fire, turned the lamps low, and then called softly to Steve.

"Sa-ay," he demanded, rubbing his eyes as they rested on Linda, seated on the hassock before the fire, "what is this?"

"I thought—" She colored a little. 'It was such a bleak night, and I thought perhaps you were lonely, so—"

"So you fixd tea for me, I'm glad you did, Linda."

Later, when the fire had burned, to the embers and their constant flow of conversation had died away, Linda rose to go to her room. She felt happier than she had been in weeks, more content with her lot. Steve stopped her as she started up the stairs and his voice was grave and kind.

"I can remember my mother preparing tea for my father many times, as you did this evening, Linda, and I'm very grateful to you. "I—I didn't realize until this evening how lonely we both have been . . ."

Empire Troops on Offensive As Foe Lashes Anew At MacArthur Army.

Dutch announced they had completely destroyed the great oil wells and oil plants at Balik Papan, on the east coast of Dutch Borneo.

Balik Papan is about 175 miles below Tarakan island, off the northeast coast of Borneo, where the Japanese gained their first foothold in the Indies.

Destruction of the oil field was carried out "in view of the clearly distinguished Japanese intention to attack Balik Papan with superior forces in order to get hold of the important oil wells," it was announced.

Dispatches from the front said British artillery opened the Malayan counter-offensive yesterday with a heavy curtain of fire. Two waves of RAF fighters then swept over the area, machine-gunning Japanese patrols and were immediately followed by charging infantrymen.

Besides attempting to crush the Japanese in a direct frontal attack, the empire troops also hoped to relieve the survivors of an Indian and two Australian battalions cut off for three days south of the Muar river.

The decision to attack coincided with information that the Japanese were planning to strike at the British west flank in northern Johore state.

In broad outline, the British strategy was to drive north against the main Japanese armies swarming down the Malay peninsula, temporarily ignoring smaller Japanese infiltration forces which had landed in the British rear, farther down on the west coast.

Rangoon, capital of invasion-menaced Burma, drew the attention of a single Japanese plane. British anti-aircraft batteries threw up a heavy fire. The Japanese circled the city at less than 1,000 feet and machine-gunned a road.

Aground, British, Burmese and Chinese troops fought Japanese and Thai troops near Kawkareik, 20 miles west of the Burma-Thailand frontier and 45 miles east of Moulmein. About 100 miles west of Moulmein, across the Gulf of Martaban, lies Rangoon.

Widening of the war zone in the South Pacific was forecast in Melbourne in the wake of mass air attacks on Allied islands off the Australian mainland. Rabaul, New Britain, was raided again.

Arthur Drakeford, Australian air minister, declared that the Japanese, backed by one or more aircraft carriers, were on the point of landing in New Guinea—perhaps today. The southern shore of New Guinea lies only about 100 miles north of Australia's Cape York.

Warns Australia In Serious Predicament

MELBOURNE, Australia—(INS)—Australian Army Minister Francis M. Forde issued a grim warning today that "never before in history has Australia faced so serious a predicament."

"No words were strong enough to drive home its full seriousness," he declared.

"The government is determined to take necessary steps to meet this new development."

Japanese Bomb North Sumatra

BATAVIA, N. E. I. — (INS) — Japanese bombing attacks on North Sumatra were announced by the Netherlands East Indies fighting forces today.

The New Batavia communique said the Jap raiders bombed and machine-gunned targets but caused little damage.

It stated Belawan, port of Medan, on the east coast of Sumatra, again was bombed this morning and that enemy planes also bombed ships off the coast of North Sumatra.

Elsewhere over the archipelago, little enemy activity was reported.

Japanese Attempt Hwaiyang Break-Out

CHUNGKING — (INS)—Japanese troops bottled up in Hwaiyang, Honan province stronghold, attempted to break through the iron ring of Chinese troops surrounding the city and were repulsed with 400 casualties, Chinese military headquarters announced today.

Chinese troops, which already have taken the outer wall of the fortified city, were said to be closing in on the Japanese position. The attempt to break out was made at the north gate of the city, and was repulsed after a "brief engagement" according to the communique.

INDUSTRY SETS RECORD

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A record of $775,300,000 in shipments was set in 1941 by the machine tool industry, the national machine tool builders association reported today. The December output was the largest monthly volume in the industry's history.

ONLY 23 PASS

Lifting Rails From Streets

Conversion of abandoned Mansfield street car rails into scrap metal for defense work started yesterday when workmen employed by the Pollak Steel company of Cincinnai, began tearing them out of Park avenue west. Shown above are Louis Jefferson, left, and C. R. Pensinger operating apparatus which lifts the rails from the pavement. City council last week authorized the company to receive the metal free in return for removing rails from approximately three miles of city streets and repaving the thoroughfare with brick. The company will buy the brick from the city.

Brazil Orders Axis Groups Watched

RIO DE JANEIRO—(INS)—Brazil today placed all Axis organizations, as well as the Spanish Falangist (Fascist) party group, under police surveillance.

The action was taken as an advance measure in carrying out anti-Axis agreements being formulated at the inter-American conference of foreign ministers.

that the British were fleeing toward Agedabia.

Premier Mussolini's high command said Axis planes supporting the land operations "repeatedly and intensively attacked retreating troos concentrations or armored units, anti-aircraft batteries, depots and troop concentrations."

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters, contrasting with the gloomy terseness of recent communiques, reported that the fuehrer's Crimean armies had beaten off Russian attempts to break the encirclement of Sevastopol, Black Sea naval base, and that repeated Soviet attempts to break out of Leningrad had been "frustrated."

Russian dispatches from the southwestern front — a term which might refer either to the Crimea or the Ukraine—reported that Soviet calvary and artillery had crushed a series of violent German counter-attacks.

A Red army bulletin said 1,400 Germans were killed in heavy fighting in the south, and the Leningrad radio reported 700 Nazis slain in action around the old-time czarist capital in the north.

The battle cry of the troops of Lieut. Gen. Leonid Gorovo, the conqueror of Mozhaisk, was: "the road to victory lies ahead." Russian artillery pounded the German rear guard. The long road to Smolensk was reported crowded with fleeing troops.

A heavy British aerial offensive against Axis bases in the Mediterranean basin was reported by the London air ministry—attacks apparently designed to circumvent a thrust against Malta or strengthening of German-Italian forces engaged in the second battle of Libya.

Wave after gave of Wellington bombers blasted at the Catania airdrome of Sicily in a 10-hour raid Tuesday night and pilots said they started fires which were visible 40 miles away.

British bombers raided targets in Germany again last night.

PEDALS TO VICTORY

NEW YORK —(INS)— Joe Blamer, 230-pound ex-gob, pedalled a bicycle to Columbus and back to Newark, a distance of 70 miles, in seven hours and 38 minutes. Blamer bet $50 that he could do the trick in eight hours.

DECENTRALIZES WAR PRODUCTION

in importance. Nelson said, with the six major divisions of WPB set up by him yesterday, when he abolished the office of production management—production, purchases, materials, labor, civilian supply and industrial organization.

The field offices will handle not only the job of bringing small plants all over the country into the military arsenal, but will advise contractors on priorities, allocations of material "or anything else that pertains to getting the job done," Nelson told newsmen yesterday.

Nelson's theory of decentralizing control is getting its first big test in Detroit, where Ernest Kanzler, veteran automobile production man, is being sent with a staff to achieve the total conversion of the motor industry to arms production. Kanzler will have only a deputy in Washington.

"Production isn't done back here—it is done there in Detroit," Nelson explained.

"If there are other industries that have a location in a certain place, I see no reason why the branch chief shouldn't go right out to the place where he can do it the quickest without having to bring men back and forth to Washington and argue about the thing."

There will be a counterpart of Kanzler in every important industry, Nelson said, and he estimated their number at 50 or 60.

Fremont Doctors Introduce 'Night Differential' Rate

FREMONT —(AP)— Physicians in this area are introducing the "night differential" system here Jan. 15.

A spokesman for the medicos said they had agreed to raise their fees for home calls $1 to $2 after office hours, or between 4 p. m. and 10 p. m.

A visit by the family doctor between 10 p. m. and 7 a. m. will advance $2 to $5. Holiday and Sunday calls between 7 a. m. and 4 p. m. will be $3.

Higher fees, physicians say, are due to increased expenses for operating automobiles, increases in the cost of medicines and drugs, some of which are limited by curtailment of imports, and to enable doctors to prepare for war emergencies.

MUST'VE USED TRUCKS

STEUBENVILLE—(AP)—Thieves apparently used a fleet of trucks to carry away strip-mining machinery valued at $5,000 from the property of the Haverhill Coal company at nearby East Springfield, Sheriff Robert Bates reported.

APPOINTS AIR RAID WARDENS

Legion Furthers Plans to Protect Mansfield In Bombing Raids.

Hardy, Red Cross first aid director.

Hardy spoke to the Legion post last night regarding the phases the training course would entail while Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, chairman of Mansfield Civilian Defense, outlined the work of the air raid wardens' organization.

Plans are now being mapped to split each of the city's precincts in half and post two wardens in each half for duty in six-hour shifts. This would require 104 men in the First ward alone, Fox pointed out.

The Legion campaign for a community-wide collection of scrap iron within the next month was discussed by Atty. Glenn W. Marriott, chairman of the drive, with a special advisory committee, following the post meeting. A permanent committee is to be named at an early date and a definite time fixed for the drive.

U. S. WAITS FOR REVENGE AFTER SUB ATTACKS

Navy Promises Good News as Nazis Sink Six Ships, Kill 75 In Week.

ed the fifth and sixth victims of submarine attacks. The American steamer City of Atlanta went to the bottom off Cape Hatteras early Monday with a loss of 43 or 44 men. The Latvian freighter Ciltvaira was attacked and believed sunk off the Atlantic coast with the loss of two of its crew. Survivors of the Ciltvaira arriving in New York and Charleston, S. C., said the ship was "still floating" when they abandoned it and believed it could be salvaged.

Only three of the City of Atlanta's crew of 46 or 47 were rescued. The three survivors, upon arrival in Hoboken, N. J., told bitterly of the German torpedo crashing into the side of the steamer early Monday morning, and how it then rose to the surface and played a searchlight upon the helpless sailors struggling in the icy waters off Cape Hatteras.

Two of the survivors, propped up in Hoboken hospital beds, told of their seven hour struggle to cling to wreckage until help arrived. Just before dawn a vessel passed nearby but they were too exhausted to signal it.

One by one the members of the crew succumbed and when help did arrive only four were picked up. One of them died.

Second Officer George Tavelle of the City of Atlanta, who was rescued, said the submarine which fired the torpedo broke water while the freighter was going down. A light on its conning tower flicked about over the choppy sea, picking out sailors shivering and clinging to scraps of wreckage and a life boat.

The Ciltvaira was torpedoed about 5 a. m. Monday morning without warning. Two of the crew of 32 were killed, according to survivors, apparently by the torpedo explosion. The other 30 put over the side in lifeboats, rowed in the vicinity for two hours and then returned to the ship at 7 a. m. They finally abandoned it after salvaging their valuables.

The City of Atlanta was an old 5,269-ton cargo and passenger ship, owned and operated by the Ocean Steamship company. It has been plying the seaways between New York and southern state ports and was well known to tourists. The apparent loss of life among its crew was the largest yet suffered by a merchant vessel in Germany's recent submarine campaign.

TREASURY WOULD EASE PAYMENTS

Seeking Way To Help Unemployed Income Taxpayers.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The treasury today promised to consider plans that would alleviate the burden of paying income taxes by persons who will be thrown out of work by conversion of industry from civilian to war production.

The treasury will have a "sympathetic" attitude toward such persons, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., said.

He said that the treasury will study a proposal for permitting monthly, instead of quarterly, payments and also will study other proposals that might make it easier for payment of taxes on 1941 income by persons who find themselves temporarily out of work when it comes time to pay the levies.

PLANS SCHOOLS FOR DEFENDERS

War Department to Set Up Six More Training Units.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The war department disclosed today that at least six more civilian defense schools to supplement facilities at the Chemical Warfare school, Edgewood Arsenal, Md., will be established by the army's chemical warfare service.

Although sites for the new schools have not been selected, the department said that one probably will be installed somewhere in New England, one in the Middle West near Chicago, another on the Gulf coast, one in Texas, and two on the Pacific coast.

Plans for the schools, are based on the belief that a minimum of 5,000 graduates will be necessary to instruct volunteer groups of the Citizens Defense corps.

Nelson Acts To Speed Production

CONFIDENCE in War Production Director Donald Nelson is further strengthened by his quick action in abolishing the cumbersome and ineffective OPM and substituting a system of six major divisions of production, each headed by a man who is given authority to "get things done."

First move in the drastic program of adapting industry to all-out production of war materials is the full halt in production of automobiles at the end of this month, with authority given Ernest Kanzler to direct the entire automotive industry into armament-making.

Equally radical departures from routine may be expected in other lines of industry which can be turned into production of war materials as the time appears to have been reached at which government and people realize that half way measures will no longer suffice—that full speed in production of needed war supplies of all kinds will not only hasten victory but will also save many lives that might otherwise be sacrificed in ground, sea and air battles.

Closely associated with the national war program is a bill now being considered in congress to limit profits on war contracts and to prevent such profiteering in land, construction and supplies as became common during the "defense" activities that preceded entry into war.

It may be doubted if there is any one thing that harms national morale—in or out of military service—more than realization that some unscrupulous and conscienceless persons are taking advantage of a war emergency to pile up huge profits for themselves, or who seek to obtain special benefits during a period when millions of others are asked to sacrifice to the extent of depriving themselves of some of the essentials of comfortable living.

Whatever is done by congress, and enforced by the administration, to prevent excess profits, to hold wages within reasonable bounds and to avoid dangerous inflation by limiting prices of foods and other commodities will be heartily approved by a vast majority of Americans—and will be in accord with the strongly stressed idea that self-interest must be submerged to the greatest possible extent during the period of national emergency.

More Traffic Accidents In City

THE RECORD of 1,408 automobile accidents in Mansfield last year, as disclosed by the annual report of the police department, is not creditable—as practically all traffic accidents on city streets are due to somebody's carelessness, lack of caution at intersections, or too high speed.

This number also represents an increase of 95 over the preceding year, with one more person killed and 73 more injured than in 1940, despite better traffic policing and greater emphasis on safe driving.

The showing made in recovery of stolen cars (80 recovered out of the 82 stolen) should serve to discourage the inclination of some people to think that stealing a car is easy to "get away with."

Theft of tires, which became quite common during the latter part of last year, may show a considerable drop this year as a result of severity of penalties to be imposed on offenders, due to the greater value placed on tires because of restrictions on sales.

Appreciation Develops Talent

AMATEUR theatricals, once known as "home talent plays" but now dignified by designation as productions by community players, have an unfailing appeal to audiences acquainted with even a few members of the cast.

Mansfield has not only been fortunate in the excellent directorial ability evidenced in community plays given by local thespians, but also in the skill with which Helen Bacon has discovered hidden talents of a number of persons peculiarly fitted to some particular part.

This was particularly noticeable in the casting of both "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and "George Washington Slept Here," offerings of the current season in which several members of the cast had gone along for many years in blissful ignorance of their ability to "act"—until Mrs. Bacon diplomatically broke the news and drafted them for a part in "the next play"—which they at first nervously but firmly refused, and later carried through in a capable and enthusiastic way . . . much to their surprise.

Community plays such as have been given in Mansfield under Mrs. Bacon's direction are a worthwhile activity, from the standpoint of both players and audiences, and the obvious enjoyment of this week's production evidences public appreciation.

Secrecy About the Weather

AMONG the first censorship moves brought on by war was a restriction on weather forecasts, which had become a part of everyday living through the many years since the weather bureau gained public confidence by attaining reasonable accuracy.

Need for withholding weather information and forecasts in territory where actual warfare is in progress is better understood than under conditions that now exist in the United States, and it is difficult to see how advance notice of a cold wave approaching from the northwest could be turned to advantage by enemy nations, even if forwarded to them.

When censorship has had time to become better adapted to actual needs it may be hoped that a way will be found to permit at least general information to be supplied to the public, so that preparations can be made for prospective radical weather changes, such as approach of sub-zero temperature, imminent heavy snowfall, and the like.

LATE STOP IS BETTER THAN NONE

Preach Economy, Practice Waste

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

NOBODY asks for a reduction in the amount of stuff that Uncle Sam buys for his own war purposes and to help the affiliated anti-Axis countries, provided that that's what the buying really is done for.

There are critics, though, who express suspicions, at least, that a sizable proportion of it isn't genuinely done for our own associates' wartime benefit, but simply is so misrepresented, by the purchasing agencies, managements, to fool the tax-paying public.

That's one of the suggestions embodied in the report of Chairman Harry S. Truman's senatorial defense investigating committee, calling for separation of all $1-per-year men from the arms program unless they sever their private business ties, the theory being that these private ties influence them in placing the government's orders.

The assertion also is made that we're paying excessive prices even for military supplies that we actually do need, only, say the complainants, we oughtn't to be overcharged for them.

Chairman Alva Adams of a senatorial appropriations subcommittee, which has spent considerable time delving into the subject, recently spoke very bitterly concerning it. Our war production, he charged, is being conducted with "incalculable waste."

Money's Worth?

It isn't that the Colorado solon doesn't want us to arm ourselves up to the limit and to help the other democracies, but he says that, for what we spend, we're entitled to get our money's worth. He doesn't believe that we do. If we did, he argues in his committee report, either the bill would be smaller, or else, if it stays at its present figures, we'll get a heap more of the necessities of warfare than we're getting at present.

It all amounts to a charge that we're being profiteered on, and that our buying agencies are acquiescent.

The case hasn't been proved and it's mighty hard to prove just now, for the minute anyone makes such an assertion, he's denounced as a copperhead or a Quisling or an Axis propagandist or some such thing, and nobody likes to be so classified.

That there's been mismanagement evidently is recognized by the administration, as more than indicated by its reorganization of production, with Donald Nelson as the new czar of it.

Grabbers Are Busy.

It's popular in Washington to preach economy in non-defense, civilian spending. That is, it's popular except among the folk who have been doing that kind of spending hitherto—social reliefers, et cetera. They resent it like everything, but it's O. K. with the emergency aggregation. That crowd wants all else cut to the bone, and cheers pleas for it to the echo.

Hint at war economy, though, and heaven help you!

Instantly arises the chorus, "This is a heck of a time to economize!"

Even Senator Adams' thesis that, while war spending's all right, yet we want our money's worth, isn't very kindly taken to.

If there's been inefficiency in the handling of our war effort, that's a different thing. Into military production, it's the unqualified concensus that we must put all the jazz that we're capable of. Let it cost what it may, let's go the limit. That's so nearly unanimous that the dissenters are scarcely audible.

Timely Editorial

Waste Helps Hitler.

Every dollar we waste is a dollar presented to Hitler. When half of our energies must be devoted to war, we cannot have business as usual, nor labor as usual, nor politics as usual.

We have got to cut out the waste from our local and state governments to release the energies we need to win the war. Unless we and others do this, we are headed for disaster and it is time we woke up that fact.

What Alderman Paul H. Douglas says to fellow members in the Chicago city council applies equally to all local legislative bodies, including our own here in St. Louis. It applies to every state legislature, to every school board, to every county court or board of county supervisors.

Waste — traditional waste in American political bodies, like every other kind now—is aid and comfort to the Axis.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Jan. 22, 1922.

Pope Benedict XV died after having served seven years and five months.

F. M. Cairns and C. C. Craig left for St. Petersburg, Fla., to spend remainder of winter.

Birthday party was given for Leroy F. Bingler, 213 Sturges avenue.

George Waring and J. H. Mollenkop, of the Brown Merchandise company, returned from business trip to New York.

Mae Murray in "Peacock Alley" was screen attraction at Opera House.

Lee grocery store in East Mansfield was destroyed by fire.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Jan. 22, 1937.

Rex Britton, 25, and Clayton Miller, 28, were killed in an auto accident two miles east of the city.

Plans were being drafted for erection of a 100-room addition to the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Climage, Buckeye avenue.

G. W. DeYarmon was re-elected president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Mutual Insurance company.

Mrs. Ernest Stevens left to spend two months in Phoenix, Ariz.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The age of Queen Elizabeth produced a great many famous men, but few stand out in greater prominence than Francis Bacon, Viscount of St. Albans, who was born on Jan. 22, 1561, and died in 1626. He was a philosopher, statesman and author.

Starting Again

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SITTING alone in a darkened room. Home, loved ones, place in life all swept away. Hopeless and brokenhearted.

How many are sitting just as she is today. Facing the New Year with empty, bitter eyes. Crying, as she cries—

"Start over? But what for? Suppose you'd lost everyone you loved, everything you lived for, everything that makes life worth while—could you start over? What's the use of starting, when it isn't FOR anything?"

But it IS for something. Everything lost? Perhaps I, too, know how that feels. But I'm telling you—

One before you were as bankrupt as you are today. Once before you had no one, nothing to live for. Nothing but your weak and naked self. Yet even so, you leapt at life eagerly, joyfully—

You have forgotten that time—though it spread over many years. It happened when you were a baby. For all those first years of your life, you did not live for any person, for any thing. You had no goal, no plan. Yet you lived abundantly, wholeheartedly . . . intensely.

"But that time doesn't count," you cry. "I was only a child—"

You were a child, but you were also a person. You thought. You desired. You took risks. You made a place for yourself. At seven you built life, as surely as though you had been a philosopher of seventy.

You learned to love then. You learned to hope—to struggle—to start up against defeat—

YOU CAN LEARN ALL THAT AGAIN NOW.

Life is not one beginning and one ending. Life is many beginnings, many endings. But always the spirit goes on.

What have you to live for?

YOURSELF . . . THAT GYPSY SPIRIT.

Give that spirit a chance! Now it is numb, broken, at a dead halt. It feels nothing. Desires nothing.

But give it a chance. Go forward as you went forward when you were a child—trying the next thing—turning the next corner. Never mind if you lack feeling or desire—GO AHEAD ANYWAY.

Stimson Gives Lindbergh Lecture On His Concepts of Americanism

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Charles Augustus Lindbergh will remember for a long time his talk with Secretary of War Henry Stimson on the question of re-entering the army. It was that kind of interview.

When the America First champion wrote to Lt.-Gen. "Hap" Arnold, army air chief, offering his services to the army, he was very hopeful of regaining the colonelcy he had angrily discarded in the heat of his isolationist crusade. He wrote this letter, instead of formally applying for reinstatement of his commission, on the advice of certain friends, some of them in the air corps.

They counselled Lindbergh that he first feel out his prospects before going on record as asking for a commission.

The reason for this advice was that they had good reason to believe that the army did not care to re-commission Lindbergh in the air corps.

That was why no formal application was ever received from him: also why he did not discuss the matter of a commission in his interview with Secretary Stimson. Lindbergh was expressly cautioned not to mention the subject.

The talk took place in Stimson's office, where the flier, hat in hand, sat across the desk from the veteran cabinet member, who had grown white in the unstinting service of his country. Stimson opened the conversation.

For fifteen minutes, in precise, cutting words, he outlined his concept of Americanism.

Stimson never mentioned Lindbergh. When he finished, the flier picked up the conversation and Stimson listened without interruption. Lindbergh stated that he was engaged in secret experimental work with a commercial concern, which the army knew about and was interested in.

At Lindbergh's offer to continue in that capacity, or any other, Stimson buzzed for Assistant Secretaries Robert A. Lovett and John J. McCloy and told them about it.

"Where do you think Mr. Lindbergh would be most useful?" asked Stimson.

Lovett and McCloy promptly voiced the opinion that the flier should continue his civilian work. Both said firmly they were sure this would be "most suitable."

That ended the interview—and Lindbergh's hoped for reinstatement as an officer of the Air Corps.

Safe Shelter.

WASHINGTON air raid rules call for tenants on the first floor of some apartment houses to take shelter in apartments on upper floors. As an upper-floor dweller, Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota, in a recent air raid test, opened his doors to a family from the floor below.

But the visitors were ill at ease. Finally Nye, with a grin, broke the ice by making a crack about his isolationism.

"This building must be pretty safe," he said, "because Hitler's aviators would certainly be cautioned about where Nye lives!"

Free Hand.

SENATOR HARRY S. TRUMAN got a hearty pat on the back from the president when the Missourian called at the White House before his committee filed its report blasting the OPM for failing to prepare American industry for full-time war production.

Also, the president couldn't have been more emphatic in declaring for the continuation of Truman's special committee.

"I'm planning to make a request for an additional $100,000 to carry on our investigation of war contracts," Truman informed the president. "But before I do anything I want your approval. You're the boss. I'll call it quits if you say the word."

"No, Harry, I want you to continue," said the president. "Your committee has done an excellent job so far, but there's still more to do."

"It's very nice of you to say that, Mr. President," said Truman. "But I warn you—we won't pull any punches. We'll continue to expose ineptitude where we find it in the OPM and other offices, as well as misconduct on the part of private industry."

"Go to it, Harry," beamed the president. "I'm all for you. The legislative branch of the government has every right to know about how the money it appropriates is being spent."

Merry-Go-Round.

A "WASHINGTON STAR" reporter published an item giving the proportion of men to every horse in the German army compared with the number of men to every horse in the American army. He immediately got an official call warning him that this was secret military information. "But," he replied, "I merely copied the figures out of the Cavalry Journal. Anyone can buy the Cavalry Journal, including Axis agents." . . . E. B. Craney, Montana radio man who is a close friend of Senator Wheeler, recently promoted, financed, and successfully completed a Red Cross drive netting over $60,000 in 24 hours. . . . Only Ohio congressman who voted for the fortification of Guam was farsighted Mike Kerwin of Youngstown.

Bad Choice of Films.

YOUNG Nelson Rockefeller, who on the whole has done a good job for Pan-American cultural relations, has bogged down badly on films for our Pan-American neighbors. His Museum of Modern Art, which was supposed to do this, has been laboring for nine months at a cost of $15,000 per month to the government—and finally has brought forth a mouse.

Rockefeller and Jock Whitney are getting a large dose of criticism about this because they personally are interested in the museum and have permitted an amateur group to run the show—into the ground.

Without benefit of competitive bidding or any system of checks and balances, amateur after amateur in the museum has tackled the job of deciding what kind of films should be sent to Latin-America. Here is a cross section of the results so far. . . . "Better Dresses Fifth Floor," "A Child Went Forth," "The City," and "Power and The Land"—all utterly unsuited and without objective for South America.

Some reasonably good commercial films have been donated, such as "U. S. Steel," "Greyhound Bus," "General Electric Excursions in Science,' 'and "The American Can Company's Silver Millions." Also Hollywood has handed over a group of pictures, such as "Eyes of the Navy," "Soldiers of the Sky," "The Battle," which are the best pictures that have gone to South America.

Meanwhile the amateurs continue to chatter and muddle over uplifting the films for our Good Neighbors—all at the expense of Uncle Sam.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—When Louis Sorin stepped into the role of the Greenwich Village landlord in "My Sister Eileen" it had been ten years since he had figured in a play that was a theatrical success.

"Ten years is a long time," I said. "What have you been doing?"

"Playing in one flop after another."

In fact, recalled Louis, he played in so many flops that long ago he ceased to remember their names. Like the girl who was often a bridesmaid but never a bride, he was often employed but never for long. Plays are hazardous undertakings. It takes a berserk, wild, and impulsive imagination to persuade a man to risk his money in the theater. But at least a backer or a producer has money, if nothing else, to start with. A poor actor has nothing unless he hits early and often.

SO WHEN Louis Sorin mentioned that ten years' lapse between hits, punctuated by one flop after another, I wondered how a man could live, or at least make ends meet, under those conditions.

"You can't," Sorin said, "you can't even exist, but nowadays actors in the theaters have something their brothers of the preceding generation never dreamed of—radio." There are literally scores of dramatic programs that are aired every hour of the day and the night. Though he was often idle in the theater, he has worked steadily on the radio. Most of this employment has been in anonymous roles in soon forgotten dramas, but the pay has been good and without interruption.

"I PLAYED every sort of character imaginable. I've been a minister, a Mississippi gambler, a hod carrier. Once they asked me to play an impassioned lover, and the director of that radio skit at once confided that he intended to develop me into a sort of minor Romeo."

There is a sort of similarity, with reservations, in the role Mr Sorin plays in real life and the one he plays on the stage at the Biltmore. Actually, he is a student of painting and devotes much of his spare time to this pastime. On the stage he is a sort of screwball artist who makes a habit of breaking pictures over chairs.

"MY SISTER EILEEN" is in its second year now, and Sorin was given the part of Mr. Appopolous when Morris Carnovsky stepped out of the role for another assignment. Does he like it? Yes, but he sums up the situation, thusly:

"I'm delighted—but I remember that dreary succession of flops that lasted ten years. I also remember the countless, if nameless, radio dramatizations that fed me and clothed me well during those years. I'm a theater man, but a radio man too, and I think I always shall be."

* * *

Paul Whiteman credits Sousa with being his earliest inspiration. He still can't hear a Sousa march without getting up and pacing the floor.

A Farmer's Diary

Food Costs

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

AS I WAS waiting by the counter of a grocery store to make a purchase, an active middle-aged man stepped in the door with a basket of large, clean brown eggs. His ruddy face was framed in a leather cap with ear tabs turned down. He wore heavy, roomy galoshes, loosely buckled. I noticed a small line of frozen snow around each top and some remnants of the horse barn about the soles. His ungloved hands were red, and after he set the basket down, he rubbed them together vigorously.

While he waited, a friendly, well-dressed young man, of city manners, who stood close by, said to him, "It's pretty cold this morning. How far did you drive?"

"It was four below zero at our place when I started, but I believe it's warming up a little," the farmer said. "I've drove fifteen miles."

"You surely have some fine brown eggs, there. Did you gather them this morning?"

"No, hardly. The chickens don't start layin' until the middle of the forenoon—especially in this weather."

"It must be mighty nice," said the younger man, "to go into the hen house and gather eggs just laid—to kill all your own meat and have all the fresh food you need right out of the garden. We don't have it that way in town! Did you ever consider just what it costs a man to live and pay rent in the city? Farmers don't have worries of that kind—as I see it!" He raised one slim, clean hand in emphasis and I could not help but notice that the farmer's hand was larger, broader fingered with dark lines on the under side, and callouses at the base.

"You don't seem to think them eggs cost much of anything," said the country man, good naturedly. "We have 300 hens. The pullets cost us 16 cents apiece, at the start—we bought 400. A rainstorm upset the house and fifty drowned. A weasel got thirty more when they were weighing more'n two pounds. The hard-coal burner got out of whack during a late cold spell and I set up with them chickens every night for a week. My wife declared I was desertin' her for 'em. Now since the weather's so cold, I carry water to them three times a day, after I've pumped it and warmed it up. I have to pay over $3 a hundred for layin' mash . . . but I'll admit eggs at the present price ain't bad.

"It's that way with everything that's raised from the ground—and sometimes when it ain't. Look at them fish in that can on the shelf. I'll bet they cost the lives of many a fisherman—somebody worked hard and long and without any too much pay. Things we're all eatin' every day cost more'n we first think."

U. S. Seamen Hear Aircraft Carrier Sunk, But They're Looking Right at It.

with a flock of chickens. She was taking back on board her brood of war birds which had been out all day scouring the sea for hundreds of miles in an effort to come to grips with the enemy.

Everyone on the Lexington probably was too busy to realize that they had been "lost."

As for the other two United States ships listed as "sunk" by the Japanese radio, let's turn the spotlight on them.

I don't know about the Langley, for I have not seen her. This doesn't mean anything has happened to her, but I simply don't know anything about her.

But I saw the Enterprise at close range very recently and I know at this writing that she is safe and sound. That leaves the carrier Saratoga, and I can testify about her for I have seen her also, since any Japanese laid eyes on her—and likewise at close range.

As for Uncle Sam's sea warriors listening to the Tokyo radio, have no fear that it is weakening their morale. It is the greatest morale builder in the fleet.

On the same Jap broadcast they noted these additional statements:

"The sinking of the Lexington set a record in courage and skill.

"Manpower plus skill and spirit are the only things that count. You will find these only in the Japanese."

With that the officers and men of this ship went back to their guns with the fervent plea:

"Please send us some Japanese so we can knock some of the power and skill out of them."

LOOT 4 CARS OF TIRES, WHEELS

Thieves Start Fresh Wave of Thefts; 82 Cars Robbed Of Tires In 1941.

Democratic Councilman Fred Miller said that the Democrats would support such legislation "if it was for best interests of the people of Mansfield and if it was not contrary to state laws."

"We must do something to discourage this outbreak of thefts," said Kyle. "With the rationing of tires already making it difficult and almost impossible to obtain tires, the theft of a tire might put an automobile out of commission for the duration of the war."

Latest to report tire and wheel thefts were Robert Dale Fry, 108 Western avenue; C. R. Hunsinger, 275 Bartley avenue; R. O. Ropp, 47 Rowland avenue; and Thomas C. Hoffman, 70 Helen avenue.

Hoffman told police that he discovered the loss of his tire and wheel when he had gone out to take the serial number on it to help trace it in case of theft.

The four tires and wheels stolen were valued at approximately $130. Ropp also reported that thieves took $15 worth of tools from the rear compartment of his car.

Police were also investigating two burglary attempts reported last night. Mrs. Clyde L. Haines, 655 Highland avenue, told police that a window in the sun room of her home had been broken but that the home was not entered. Police also received a report of an unsuccessful attempt to break into the offices of the Colby and Earick auto sales company at 80 West Third street.

Try This Old Home-Mixed Cough Relief. Surprising!

Child Could Make It. No Cooking. Big Saving.

You may not know it, but, in your own kitchen, and in just a moment, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it can't be beaten.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

DOCTORS WARN CONSTIPATED FOLKS ABOUT LAZY LIVER

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few. BUT DON'T WORRY—

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE HEAR GUEST SPEAKER

Louis Bromfield Speaks on "What We Have to Look Forward To" at Membership Committee Chapter Night.

AT THE chapter night program of the membership committee of the Women of the Moose held Wednesday evening at the Moose home, Louis Bromfield gave an interesting and informative talk on "What We Have to Look Forward To." Mr. Bromfield stressed the point that in these troubled times "Faith, Hope and Charity, three qualities exemplified in the rituals of the Women of the Moose, are important not only as Moose members but as Americans and good citizens."

Mrs. Gaynelle Roth, membership committee chairman, was in charge of the program which was given in a room decorated with palms, ferns and baskets of mixed flowers. Miss Ruth Roesch, senior regent, announced that the committee had purchased a $100 defense bond for the Mansfield chapter, No. 47, Women of the Moose.

A class of five candidates, including Dorothy Strong, Betty M. Conklin, Willadene Graham, Elizabeth Gerrell and Barbara Kozik, was initiated in honor of the birthday of Miss Katherine Smith, P. H. D. grand chancellor of the Women of the Moose of Washington, D. C.

Honored guests at the meeting were Mrs. Esther Taylor, graduate vice president of the Mooseheart Alumni association of Barberton, and Mrs. Irma Wennenger, national conference leader of Bucyrus. Short talks were given by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Wennenger. Paul Grohol, master of ceremonies, introduced the committee chairman and members to the 100 members and guests who attended the meeting.

Lester D. Perry, Legion recorder and past governor of the Loyal Order of the Moose, gave an interesting talk on "Why You Should Become and Remain a Member of the Moose." Mrs. Roth presented gifts to the guest speakers and honored guests. Mrs. Taylor invited the local chapter to take charge of the ritual committee chapter night program of the Barberton chapter to be held Feb. 27. Mrs. Mabel Keller, local ritual committee chairman, will be the guest speaker.

An all day meeting of the local chapter, to knit and sew for the Red Cross, will be held tomorrow at the Moose home. Mrs. Myrtle Clements will be in charge of the session which will begin at 10 a. m. On Jan. 27 members will motor to Bucyrus to conduct initiatory services at the Bucyrus chapter meeting.

Prospect Park Association Has Meeting

Prospect Park association members held their regular monthly meeting in the park pavilion Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hollingsworth, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Doolittle and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hughes were in charge of the meeting which was attended by 90 members.

Bridge and five hundred were diversions of the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Art Stanley, Robert Barker, Mrs. J. A. Kramer and James Peyton. Hosts for the meeting to be held Feb. 18 are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Snavely, Mr. and Mrs. George Hannewald, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Logan, Mr. and Mrs. James Peyton and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Devore.

Larkspur Club Has Meeting Wednesday

Larkspur club members held a meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Elmira Caugherty, West Fourth street road. Mrs. Bereht Coleman, president, conducted the business session. Bingo was played and prizes won by Mrs. Mabel Ricker, Mrs. Clara Johns and Mrs. Nettie Mentzer. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with chrysanthemums. Members will hold an all day meeting Feb. 3 at the home of Mrs. Ima Ulmer, Wood street, to sew for the Red Cross. The next social meeting will be held Feb. 11 at the home of Mrs. Coleman, East Fourth street.

Sappho Club Meets at Home Of Mrs. Stevens

Sappho club members were entertained with a Russian program at the home of Mrs. J. L. Stevens, 67 North Mulberry street, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. A. C. Butterfield and Mrs. Dean Eckert presented the following as piano duets: "Dark Eyes," "Two Guitars," and "The Waltz" from "Sleeping Beauty," by Tschaikowsky.

Folk songs rendered by Mrs. Ambrose Middleton were "Cossack Love Song" and "Crimson Sarasan." She also sang "Shepherd Lehl," by Rimsky-Korsakov, from the opera, "Snegoruotchka. Interesting paper given by Mrs. H. W. Peterson was entitled "Our Alien Population."

Tea was served to the 24 members present following the program. On Feb. 4, the group will meet at the Women's Club for a 1 o'clock luncheon. Hostesses will be Miss Thelma Reed, Miss Mary Proctor, Mrs. H. L. Princehorn, Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Lillian Pauley. Mrs. G. G. Rohleder will present a paper on "Our Perplexing Argentines."

First Meeting Of New Year Held by Class

First meeting of the new year was held by the Class of '36 of the First Christian church at the home of Miss Nina Maglott, three miles south of Mansfield on Route 13, recently. The meeting was opened with prayer by Emmett Izer, teacher.

During the business session the annual and monthly reports were given by the secretary, Gladys Kerr. Report of the treasurer, Miss Betty Davis, also was given. Mrs. Edith Davis and Miss Davis were named to have charge of the "upper rooms" of the church for the year.

The following committees were appointed: program, Edith Swaidner, chairman; Miss Davis and Harriet Buckmaster; look-out, Evan Davis, chairman; Walter Marlow and Frederick Cliffe; entertainment, Mrs. Rachel Gongwer, chairman, Raymond Bauer and Miss Davis.

Contest prizes were won by Mrs. Davis and Miss Davis. Luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Thelma Remy. Teams for the attendance contest for Easter will be led by Donald Wachs and Miss Remy. Next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Davis, 224 Claremont avenue.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

I knew that Olina's suggestion was only a subterfuge, and that for some reason she wished to speak to me alone. There was nothing in the world that I desired less than to talk to her, partly because of my old aversion to her, weakened though it has been by her really exemplary conduct since her mother's marriage to Philip Veritzen, and partly by the many things on my mind which I had to think out.

Those really were the tasks of which I had spoken, for I had nothing for my hands to do, although I purposely had given that impression to the Veritzens.

But of course there was but one thing for me to do, and I did it.

"Why, that's a happy thought!" I said. "There are some little things where two pair of hands will distinctly have the advantage over one. I am ever so grateful to you for suggesting it."

Olina Thankful.

"It is I who am grateful for the opportunity of helping you," she said with the pretty, formal old world courtesy in which she has been so rigorously trained, and I saw her mother give her an approving smile. Then Olga's eyes met mine with a message in them which I interpreted as the age-old maternal plea: "Be patient with my child."

I tried to send a message of assurance to her from my own eyes, then her husband formally conducted me to the door, his stepdaughter following me closely.

"Please let me know at once if there is anything I can do for you," Philip Veritzen said as he bowed us out.

"Thank you, I will," I returned, and then the door closed behind us. As Olina fell into step with me she asked flippantly: "Isn't he simply magnificent? I always feel as if he ought to dress up in old-time court costume, with jabots of priceless lace at his throat and hands."

Not of This Century.

"I have had the same thought many times," I told her with answering lightness. "He doesn't belong to the twentieth century at all."

I knew very well that she had not come out with me for the sole purpose of discussing her stepfather's grandiloquent manner. But I also knew that I must wait her own time in telling me what she wished of me.

She went on chatting almost feverishly about everything and nothing until we were safely in our apartment with the door closed behind us. Then her face changed to seriousness, and she came close to me.

"Aunt Madge," she said softly, and the familiar address startled me, while something in her manner pulled at my sympathies.

"I may call you that, may I not?" she went on.

Olina Is Humble.

"Of course, my dear child," I said, feeling my aversion slipping rapidly from me. "Suppose we sit down."

I pulled chairs opposite each other, put her in one of them and took the other myself.

"I can't blame you for—for not having much use for me, as you Americans put it," she said, and put up her hand with an almost regal gesture as I opened my lips to protest what I would not have felt like gainsaying five minutes before. But there was something so softened, so humble about her that I could not feel rancor toward her.

"I was such a 'heel' as Mary would say," she said, "that I wonder now how any of you have been able to treat me decently again. Someday I'll break down and tell you some of the reasons behind the way I acted—nothing very creditable — but if you knew it might give you some little excuse for me."

Slate Wiped Clean.

"Suppose you let me talk a minute," I said, smiling at her. "Let me remind you that all this is 'water under the bridge, as we say, and it has vanished like water from all our minds. We wiped the slate and began again on the day which marked your stepfather's recognition of Mary as a Veritzen star, and his announcement of his forthcoming marriage to your mother."

A wry smile quirked the corners of her beautiful mouth.

"Not to mention his really touching introduction of me as Noel's sister," she said. "That's why I'm here now. He hasn't any sister, and I'd like to do something for him which a real one would do if she were here."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

EVERY BID IS A CLUE

During the play of a hand, if you at any stage forget any one bid which had been made, or fail to make deductions based on it, you are likely to read the situation wrong and therefore make a play which is not the best. The fact that somebody doubled a particular suit somewhere during the auction may tell you not only how to play that suit, but how to figure out your play of another suit or suits.

Talk about queer distribution! But it was nothing to the slip West made in his defense. He started all right by laying down his heart A, but then made his big mistake. After seeing the number of hearts in the dummy, he knew only one was still out, the K. If the declarer had it, a repeat of hearts, furnishing a ruff by East, would be the best play. But if East had it, that would give the declarer control of the hand.

Furthermore, he reckoned, it would enable South to take a couple of top spades and ruff a third round in the dummy with the club A. In view of that danger, West decided to switch to his club 2, to knock the A out of dummy and prevent a ruff with it. This he did. South then led the spade 5 from dummy. When East ducked he put on the K, laid down two more high trumps, led the spade 3 to the Q, lost two more spades to East, being down exactly one trick.

Where West missed his signals was in forgetting about East having doubled spades. If he had figured correctly from that, he would have realized the danger of South getting a quick ruff of spades was highly unlikely, as East would be almost sure to be able to take the first or second round of the suit, since West himself had the Q. To double East must have had the A or K. Had he reckoned thus, he would have seen that the try for a ruff of the heart K would have risked nothing and might have gained, as it would have. It would have set the contract one more trick, as exactly the same other tricks would have been taken by the defenders.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Jan. 23.

AN INTERESTING and lively, possibly eventful, day is forecast from a chain of unusual or conflicting planetary aspects. There is sign of strange, perplexing and contradictory situations to be manipulated to success and satisfaction by good judgment, rationalizing, and finesse rather than emotional or high-tensioned behavior. Business as well as professional, social and domestic relations are under fluctuating influences and need wise understanding and care. With this there is prospect of a favorable conclusion to all problems.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which a great deal depends on their own reasonable, restrained, poised and sagacious management of affairs that may be unlooked for, unusual, even peculiar and challenging. Curious or surprising events may upset the equilibrium when stability, cleverness and sound tactics would result in moderate benefits. Personal as well as business, social, domestic, cultural and sentimental culminations are dependent on prudence and wise counsel. Use these in moments or peril or sorrow.

A child born on this day should have conflicting traits of character, with much depth and stability as well as many emotional excitements and proclivities. Its affairs may fluctuate, but in the end may be secure.

EXPECT TO ADD HUNDREDS OF BOOKS IN DRIVE

Boy Scouts Start Out Again Saturday to Collect Them For Service Camps.

With the establishment of 12 more collection centers throughout Richland county the Victory book campaign being conducted to obtain reading matter for the armed forces is expected to add hundreds of volumes to the mountain of books already gathered through the city-wide canvas conducted in Mansfield by the Boy Scouts.

The Scouts will be out again Saturday for a "mop-up" of the city and they may extend their efforts into the county if sufficient books are collected at the various centers to warrant transportation to the Mansfield Public Library.

More than 3,000 volumes have been turned over to the Library thus far for sorting and mending prior to shipment to training camps and naval bases, officials said.

Miss Lois MacKellar, county chairman, has been aided by Mrs. Frank H. Maxwell, Red Cross representative in the campaign, in establishing the following county collection centers and local chairmen:

Shiloh, postoffice, Mrs. Dewey Reynolds; Adario, Proschell's store, M. M. Yoha; Plymouth, library, Mrs. W. C. McFadden; Shenandoah, H. C. Jenney store, Mrs. A. A. Mellick; Bellville, library, Mrs. J. B. Kochheiser; Ontario, Scout Hall, Mrs. R. W. Burger; Butler, Creath's grocery, Mrs. I. L. McCullough; Lucas, school building, Hugh McConnell; South Boulevards office, R. K. Clark; East Mansfield, Landfair grocery, Mrs. Olan LaRue; Roseland grocery, Roseland, Mrs. Milo W. Hieber.

As January Class of Graduates Stages Dinner-Dance at School

January graduates of Senior high school held a dance last night in the school auditorium. Pictured above left dancing are Patricia Olin, a newly elected member of the National Honor society, and John Mathias Pasheilich, who acted as toastmaster at the dinner preceding the dance. Seated above right, during an intermission in the music, are Cecil Arden Miller, third ranking scholar in the class, and Margaret Anne Wilson, who offered the toast to the boys at the dinner.

HOLD ELECTION

SHELBY—An election is being held today at Shelby Cycle company to determine whether the factory employes will be represented by the Association of Factory Employes, an independent union, or the International Association of Machinists, Lodge No. 1527, an A. F. of L. group.

The employes recently chose the A. F. of L. group to bargain for them, but since then the other independent union has been organized. The election returns will be tabulated by NLRB officials with representatives of the two unions and company present.

NEWSMAN DIES

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—George A. Schreiner, 66, Near East correspondent of the Associated Press in the World war, former Washington correspondent for New York newspapers, was dead here today.

GRADS DINE AND DANCE PRIOR TO COMMENCEMENT TOMORROW

Completing the lighter side of Senior week activities with a dinner-dance last night mid-year graduates of Senior high school today made final preparations for Commencement tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The 60 girls and 36 boys in the class met in the school cafeteria last evening for a dinner and then moved to the gymnasium for their last dance as members of the student body.

John Pasheilich, acting as toastmaster, presided over dinner talks in which Jack Shiplet, class president, made brief remarks, Charles Palmer, vice president, gave a toast to the faculty, William Doolittle to the class girls and Ann Wilson to the boys.

Concluding the talks, Lee Adams, president of the June class, made a farewell talk to the class.

Invited to the function were Glenn Rohleder, school principal; W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools; H. W. Arlin, president of the board of education, and their wives, and Rev. and Mrs. D. N. Roller; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hausserman; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Beer; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bishop; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mickey and R. L. Nixon.

Tomorrow Dr. Walter A. Zaugg, director of the bureau of appointments at Bowling Green state university, will deliver the commencement address using "Youth's Disillusionments" as his theme. Before he speaks the 96 pupils will file down the aisles of the auditorium to their places at the front of the building.

Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church will deliver the invocation followed by the salutation by Jack Shiplet, president of the January class.

W. L. Miller will introduce Zaugg and following this talk Glenn Rohleder, principal, will present the class to Walton O. Leedy, member of the board of education, who will present the diplomas.

Preceding the recessional, Patricia Olin, Charlotte Paste and Amy Jacot will sing the class song. Rev. Sheriff will pronounce the benediction.

The school orchestra, conducted by Siguard Jorgenson, will play music for both the processional and recessional.

The fish rescue crew of the Missouri conservation commission had saved approximately 500,000 fish from drying streams, sloughs and ponds last summer.

FIVE CASES UP FOR JURY TRIAL

Common Pleas Court Panel To Be Called Back Into Session Monday.

With five cases on the schedule for trial next week, the Richland county petit jury will be called back into session Monday morning after a week's recess.

The week's work in prospect for the jurors includes four judgment cases and another involving the paternity of a child. The paternity case which names Harold Matty as defendant is set for trial next Thursday.

Others on the week's calendar are:

Monday—W. L. Burghard vs. Wendell Beals, for $25,000 personal damages as result of traffic accident in July, 1939, in Lincoln Heights.

John Them, executor of estate of John Orban, deceased, vs. Daniel Simon, for $8,262 judgment on a promissory note.

Wednesday—Betty Switzer vs. Dr. P. A. Blackstone, Bellville, for $15,000 judgment in a case involving charges that the defendant failed to give the plaintiff's fractured leg proper treatment.

Jack Doyle vs. Clifton Laser and Guy L. Walker, for $138 on account.

THEATERS

Great Undertaking.

Putting Wales on the map of California for the picture, "How Green Was My Valley," showing at the Ohio, was one of the biggest projects ever undertaken by a movie studio. The Welsh mining town erected in the San Fernando Valley comprised some 80 buildings including miners' homes, colliery buildings, stores, a tavern, the church and other communal buildings. At the insistance of the director, John Ford, the buildings were not merely false fronts. Each one had a one room interior fitted out as a dressing room. Donald Crisp and Sara Allgood head the cast in this moving story of a simple Welsh family.

Remarkable Drama.

The story of how the eloquent Daniel Webster once defeated the devil himself in a debate over a man's soul, the Madison theater attraction, "All Money Can Buy," has the stage actor, Walter Huston, in the role of the slyly humorous characterization of the devil. Edward Arnold plays the silver-tongued orator and the cast includes Simone Simon, Anne Shirley, James Craig and Gene Lockhart. "Outlaws of the Desert," with William Boyd is the second attraction.

Mystery Thriller.

Lively Comedy.

When a wilful society girl sets her cap for a zoology professor the fun starts in "Bringing Up Baby," the Katherine Hepburn-Cary Grant comedy, at the Park. "Baby," in this case is a pet leopard that clutters up the life of the professor once the society bud decides to capture the professor. Charles Ruggles, May Robson and Barry Fitzgerald are in the cast. The Lone Wolf proclaims his retirement from crime in the second picture "Secrets of the Lone Wolf," with Warren William.

Detective Picture.

William Gargan plays the role of a clever investigator faced with the problem of proving that Public Enemy No. 1 is at large and not in the prison where he is reported to be incarcerated in the Majestic picture, "Sealed Lips," opening a two-day run today. Anne Nagel, Ralf Harolde and June Clyde are others in the cast. "Dynamite Canyon," with Tom Keene is the second picture.

ATTAINS RATING

MT. GILEAD — Dean Breese, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Breese of Mt. Gilead, a freshman engineering student at Ohio State was placed on the honor roll for the last quarter for exceptionally high scholarship.

AUTOIST FINED FOR SPEEDING

ASHLAND—Harold Lee Bradford of Rochester was fined $10 and costs in the court of Justice W. G. Singer at Ruggles Wednesday on a charge of reckless driving on U. S. route 224. Bradford's arrest is the first to be made by Sheriff L. D. Hammond in an effort to cut down speeding on this route in the northern part of the county.

Charged with going through Rugles at 75 miles an hour, Bradford was chased two miles by Sheriff Hammond and Deputy Sheriff William Morris.

Complaints have been made that speeders have failed to slow down while going through the villages of Sullivan, Nova and Ruggles. There have been numerous accidents on this road.

Sport Podge by REX HESS

It's Happy Harry now, and not the Moanin' Mehock.

Harry the Merry Mehock has his sanction and all's right with the world.

The National Interscholastic Athletic association has placed its stamp of approval on this year's running of the Mansfield Relays, and now the boys may gather for miles around, and run and jump and throw things about, without ever the inkling of a hint of suspicion being directed at their simon-pure standing.

The sanction signed by H V Palmer, executive secretary of the N. I. A. A., approves the meet for high schools from Kentucky, West Virginia Pennsylvania and Michigan

H. R. Townsend, commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic association, already had sanctioned the meet for competition by Buckeye schools. Indiana won't let its high school athletes stray beyond the Hoosier borders.

I get a boot out of the way Mansfield Superintendent Larry Miller presented the Relays to the school board for approval the other evening. He described it as "the nation's outstanding high school track meet." Looks like Mehock has the Relays well sold in the front office.

* * *

One of the seven or eight West Virginia schools considering competition in the Mansfield Relays next April is Triadelphia.

Five years ago Triadelphia sent a West Virginia state champion dash man to the Relays, a whiz in the 100 and 220 sprints.

And after traveling all that distance, the boy didn't get to run. He jumped the gun twice in both events, and was automatically ruled out. It's taken Triadelphia a long time to get over that.

Definite arrangements have been made by Cage Coach Vern Hoffman to have Jack Shiplet, diploma and all, join the Tygers Saturday night in Youngstown for their scuffle with Ursuline

Hoffman has learned that Ursuline presently is boasting an 11-game winning streak, and he doesn't care to have the Tygers added as No 12 or No 13 as the case may be on the Ursuline victim parade

So Grid Coach Paul Snyder will take Shiplet to Youngstown Saturday.

* * *

There's no dope available here on the caliber of Ursuline's victims to date. But until he learns otherwise, Hoffman is regarding the 11-game record as the real McCoy, and not an Ursuline ersatz streak

Capital Remains Unbeaten

Takes 60-56 Win Over Stubborn Muskie Squad.

(By Associated Press)

Capital university's basketball squad is still undefeated in the Ohio conference, thanks to last night's 60-56 win over stubborn Muskingum, but it has a long, hard row ahead.

With the season barely half over, the Capital cagers have yet to tangle with such teams as Marietta, Denison, Bowling Green Otterbein, Ohio Northern and Kenyon.

Last night's victory at Columbus gave them a clean slate of five wins and at the same time accounted for Muskingum's second straight conference loss.

* * *

Bob Geist, tall Capital center, was bad luck for Muskingum Kept out of practice for a week by laryngitis, Geist dropped in 19 points—nine field goals and one free throw—to lead both teams in scoring Guard Bob Holtsclaw had 18 for the visitors.

* * *

The other scheduled conference game between Kenyon and Otterbein at Westerville was postponed to Feb. 5 because of final exams at Kenyon.

* * *

Miami and Dayton fought each other to a standstill at Oxford last night—Miami dropping in a two-pointer in the last four seconds to win 33 to 32 Bob Kavanaugh, Dayton forward, heaved a desperation shot which caromed off the edge of the basket as the gun sounded

Tonight's games: Ohio Northern at Ashland, De Sales at Cincinnati.

OWENS TO USE IDEAS GAINED AT OLYMPICS

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ideas obtained in Germany while Jesse Owens was there for the 1936 Olympic games will be used by him in his new position as national director of physical education among negroes for civilian defense.

"We could see what the Germans were doing with mass physical education," said the former Ohio State university track star, who won three track events in the Olympics. "We could see the Hitler youth movement going at full tilt. That's what we're going to do."

NORTHWESTERN, CHICAGO NEED CAGE VICTORIES

CHICAGO—(AP)—Right now the Big Ten teams most sadly in need of a cure for basketball losing streaks are northwestern and Chicago.

Northwestern failed to shake its slump at Notre Dame last night and few are expecting Chicago to break its 10 game string tonight against the hot shooting Great Lakes team. The Naval station's only loss against Big Ten opposition has been to Ohio State The Sailors have defeated Purdue, Indiana and Northwestern

Northwestern never could keep pace with Notre Dame last night after the first five minutes and lost a return match, 61 to 43.

COACHES ENLIST

EAST LIVERPOOL—(AP)—East Liverpool high school is losing two faculty members to the naval reserves. Gust Zarnas, 28, assistant football coach and former Ohio State guard, and Howard Linell, 31, a teacher who formerly coached basketball, have enlisted. They will report Feb. 9.

Joins Navy

HUBER McCUEN

Among the names of Ohio athletes accepted by Gene Tunney as physical education instructors in the U. S. navy, made public today, is that of Huber McCuen, 194 West Fourth street, Mansfield. As a member of the Ashland college basketball team last season, McCuen gained fame by setting some sort of record for quick exit by the personal foul route. The name of John Hallabrin, Mansfield quarterback at Ohio State last fall, also interviewed by Tunney in Cleveland Monday, was not included in the list. Whether the application is still pending could not be learned here.

3-Cushion Lead 3-Cuchion Lead

CHICAGO—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, the man whose name has been synonymous with billiards for more than 40 years, ran up a 27-0 lead last night before his opponent could score and moved closer to another world three-cushion title—his third in a row.

The 53-year-old Hoppe stunned Jake Schaefer and spectators alike as he won, 50 to 25.

The victory was good for the undisputed tourney lead when Joe Chamaco of Mexico City bowed to Welker Cochran, 50 to 35 in 39 innings Chamaco, however, has a chance to tie up the lead again tonight when he will oppose Hoppe

The tourney ends tomorrow night.

Mansfield Boxers Set for Golden Gloves Tournament

With 10 Mansfield Friendly House fighters entered, the Golden Glove tournament will get under way this evening at the Cleveland Public auditorium at 7 p. m.

* * *

Of these boxers only Joe and Al Sauers have had any experience in former tourneys. Joe took part in last year's show and Al has been in the last two.

Mansfield fighters, entering the tournament without the customary preliminary round here, will join with 400 other youthful swingers in the three rings in the auditorium.

Yesterday before the fight, Mike Wentz, Friendly House coach, said that the boys would be under the direction of John Eichinger while in Cleveland. Best chance of emerging victorious, he said, went to Mike Sauer, the youngest of the three brothers.

* * *

Mike will be entered in the novice class, but should be able to maintain his punch with any he'll meet, Wentz said.

* * *

After bouts tonight and tomorrow the tourniament will continue next Monday and Friday.

An annual event, the Golden Gloves tournament tonight presents its 14th successive show, featuring the best local amateur talent from scores of cities, towns and hamlets in the Northeastern Ohio A. A. U. Association.

Stars and former champions are noticeably scarce this year due to the draft, enlistments in the armed services and the seven-day demands of many of the war industries In fact, the open division, which draws the cream of the fighters, has only one former champ returning to the rings. He is Sam Derrico, of Cleveland, who is favored to repeat as featherweight winner.

As usual, the bulk of the fighters are from Cleveland, but the out-of-towners have arrived in considerable force. Akron, with a 25-man squad is the best represented.

The Akron brigade is headed by seven veterans of Golden Gloves warfare, and Marcus Krasne, director of the qualifications there, believes he has the best squad ever assembled Akron last year scored a clean sweep in the bantamweight division with Buddy Smallwood's triumph in the open and Paul Reed winning in the novice class.

Youngstown's fighters are touted as the best from that city since 1934.

Lorain, Akron, Youngstown and Ashtabula have held qualifying tournaments to choose their contestants, while teams have been entered directly from Canton, Elyria, New Philadelphia, Sandusky, Niles and Warren under the same conditions that Mansfield boys will fair.

Strict physical examinations were given most of the fighters yesterday. Mansfield fighters, however, will weigh in and be examined this afternoon. Three rings will be used tonight and tomorrow night, with only one ring for the semi-finals and finals, next Monday and 30, respectively.

Heftiest fighter to enter the tournament is 310-pound Alberigo (Rocco) Casale of Cleveland. His handlers claim he is surprisingly fast on his fet, despite the fact that he would have outweighed giant Primo Carnera during his brief championship tenure by 32 pounds. Casale is 21, and stands six feet two inches.

Winners in the Cleveland slugfest will go to the Chicago Tribune tournament, in Chicago with the finals for the survivors there to be held in Boston

San Francisco Golf Tourney Begins

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The $5 000 San Francisco 72-hole open golf turnament starts today with 150 of the nation's touring teemen on the firing line and Byron Nelson of Toledo concededly the man to beat.

* * *

The large field will shoot 18 holes daily with the final round Sunday. Play is on the up and down course of the California Golf club.

* * *

TOURNEY BOOKED

NEW YORK—(AP)—Dates for the fifth annual national invitation college basketball tournament at Madison Square Garden have been set for March 17, 19, 23 and 25.

Tunney Names Louis Best Fighter at Annual Dinner

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK — (AP) — A fellow who would be inclined to look lightly upon the stunt of an army bomber making a three-point landing on the tower of the Empire State building pointed to Joe Louis today as probably the greatest fighter who ever lived.

* * *

This overcautious individual is none other than our old pal Gene Joseph Tunney, who retired undefeated as heavyweight champion, who took a long count in Chicago one night that they said gave him all the best of it, and who looked on the dynamite of Dempsey without blinking an eye.

* * *

The occasion for his sudden discovery of Louis as a pretty fair country beak-buster, after seven years of varying degrees of poohpoohing the Brown Bomber, came last night at the annual dinner of the Boxing Writers association of New York. At this clambake, Louis received not only the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque as the man who did the most for boxing in 1941, but also the Ring magazine merit award as the fighter of the year.

* * *

What is more remarkable about Gene Joseph's song of praise was that Gene Joseph himself was among the reward receivers. He got a special trophy from the boxing writers for his services as head man of the navy's fistic follies collection.

"I saw Joe beat Buddy Baer down in less than a round a week ago last Friday," explained Tunney, who has been more or less snickering at the Bomber ever since he came down the pike back in '35. "It was the greatest exhibition of human destruction I have ever seen.

"Joe is probably the greatest and most complete workman the ring has ever seen The only other fighter in all fight history who might have done his job as well was Bob Fitzsimmons, and I never saw him. I'm going only by what they tell me."

Gene Josejh passed on his delayed pat on the back in the presence of such ear-scrambling operators as Jack Dempsey and Jim Braddock, but it's doubtful if Louis got more of a kick out of Tunney's speech than he did out of the wire from Lieut. Col. Howard Brennizer of Camp Upton, where Louis is stationed. This wire, voicing the colonel's regrets for being among the missing, also pointed out that Joe is "developing into as fine a soldier as he was a boxer and a gentleman."

"Well," said Joe, "I always thought I'd never feel as good again as the night I won the heavyweight championship. But tonight tops 'em all. I've never felt this good."

Sees War as Sports Aid

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Lew Raymond, former New York sports figure now promoting boxing here, believes the war will be a "Godsend" to America—because military physical training programs will create "the best trained nation in the world and the likes of Hitler will never dare to challenge us again."

Rolund Raymond expects the army, navy and marine corps to produce the greatest athletes and fighters this country has ever had.

* * *

"You'll recall," he said in an interview, "that the first World war produced many fine fighters including Gene Tunney, a heavyweight champion of the world. But this time there'll be more and better boxers.

"And why? Because the boys who go into the army and navy today will come out better physically. They'll be better trained. We know more about training athletes than we did 20 years ago

"Gene Tunney is doing a grand job for the navy. He is organizing a physical training corps that will be qualified to do the job. He has a system of training men—something we didn't have before.

* * *

"Mark my words—after the war is over, we'll have greater fighters and athletes than ever before. The war, you'll eventually see, is a Godsend. It will save millions of boys who were headed straight for the rocks. They weren't strong enough physically, so didn't have the moral courage to resist the temptations at every turn."

* * *

Raymond, who once managed Harry Wills, belives the dominant positions held by negroes in boxing now is due to refusal of white boys to "take care of themselves and train with the same sacrifices."

"But wait until the war is over and you'll see a change," he predicted. "The white boys are coming out of the army and navy in better physical condition and with a different outlook."

Johnsville Beats Iberia Cage Team

IBERIA Johnsville high school maintained its position on the second rung of the Morrow county cage league last night by trimming Iberia, 33-20.

* *

Trailing, 10-6, at the end of the first quarter, the Johnsville squad gained a 16-12 lead at the half and coasted in to a win from there.

High scorer was Dick Snazely with four baskets and six free throws for 14 points.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Jack Dempsey shouldn't have much trouble with his new duties as aide de camp to Major General William Ottman of the New York State guard . . . Jack has had plenty of experience as aide de fight camp—which required him to keep from laughing while he said so-and-so-had a good chance against Joe Louis . . . Baseball men are wondering if they will be able to get back to the seven game limit for night games after they boost it to 14 as a war measure . . . Ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker presented the Eddie Neil Memorial Trophy to Joe Louis at the boxing writers' dinner last night, but it might have been more appropriate if he had delegated the job to Quent Reynolds, who followed Eddie's footsteps from sports to war reporting.

RABBI WHO SAW BRITAIN BOMBED TO SPEAK HERE

Gives Lecture at Appleseed Auditorium Jan. 28 Under Auspices of Lodge.

Under the auspices of the Mansfield B'nai B'rith lodge Rabbi Raphael Levine who has lately returned from England will speak on "United Amidst Diversity" Wednesday, Jan 28 at 8 p m in the Johnny Appleseed junior high school auditorium

A native of Minnesota, Rabbi Levine recently returned from England where he was a religious leader in the Jewish settlement there until his pulpit was literally blown away by the Nazi Luftwaffe.

He has stated his belief in an English and Allied victory because of the "dogged temperament of the British people, their sense of humor and their profound belief in the rightness of their cause."

"The leaders of Britain realize fully that there is much evil in their own social order" he has explained 'But Britian does not stand before the world in the role of injured innocence but rather than of a repentant sinner The leaders are making a very serious attempt to plan the post-war world on a more generous plan for the little man"

Referring to anti-Semitism in Europe Rabbi Levine emphasizes that one of Hitler's most effective techniques in his 'divide and rule' philosophy was the fomenting of anti-Jewish feeling

The lecture is to be brought to Mansfield as part of the civic and cultural program of the lodge and will be open to the public with no admittance charge

GEN. JOHNSON: Demands Hold Up Price-Control Accord

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—It is not so much bad censorship as a lack of good leadership that leaves our country still unprepared spiritually for this war of all the world.

United we are, and ready to make sacrifice without stint for the common cause. That, in itself, is a notable achievement of the president—fit to stand in the front rank with all his great deeds.

Gen. Johnson.

The fighting spirit of our experienced and trained soldiers and sailors is plainly demonstrated by what has happened at Wake, Guam, Oahu and the Philippines.

Whether raw new levies will parallel those great deeds remains to be seen, but training, based on the same ideas of fighting is under expert general directions. Give them time. They will equal the work of their comrades in the Pacific islands.

Yes, these are all notable achievements, but, standing alone, they are not enough. The missing element in our mental preparation is a flaming will to fight and to aim great battles until no resistance remains.

The fault is not complacency, or such a boondoggling attitude toward armament as the nations of western Europe indulged to their ruin.

The fault may be illustrated by the difference between the attitude of a great, shaggy powerful New Foundland dog toward a field mouse and that of a well trained terrier toward a rat.

The big dog seems to think it sufficient to yawn and, without even getting up, to brush the impudent nuisance aside with one swipe of a ponderous paw. The terrier is in the air like a flash of lightning and, never ceases to attack, with machine-gun rapidity until that rat is completely liquidated.

A handful of gaunt Arab horsemen overwhelmed a great deal of western civilization in an incredibly short space of time. They were inspired by religious fanaticism. All they asked was an opportunity to fight and conquer at the earliest possible moment.

With his peculiar knack for such things, Napoleon literally inspired his tattered, hungry French revolutionary troops with an unshakeable conviction that they were fighting to bring liberty, equality and brotherhood to oppressed mankind of every nation.

He had wholly inadequate troops, equipment and supplies. It didn't overbalance the moral determination of his soldiers. As he himself said of this: "In war the mental side is as to the material as 3 to 1."

This list of examples could be so long extended that no further proof would be necessary. An absolute essential victory for us is an united and almost fanatical determination throughout the whole country to kill, crush and capture all means of Axis resistance.

Do we have it? We have not. Events like Pearl Harbor and MacArthur's masterly "last stand" in Luzon tend to help supply it, but events alone are not enough. It needs a dynamic leadership to translate those events honestly and fairly into an united will for flaming action.

The apparent policy of minimizing Axis victories and exaggerating Axis defeats is equally ill-advised. Such soft-pedaling as was done after Pearl Harbor to suppress the real extent of the disaster tends to kill confidence and leave bewilderment instead of mustering all man-power into eager battalions of death. Dispersion of public attention among too many distant and little-known battle-areas all over the world are the reverse of helpful.

The American people have not been fully convinced that we are fighting for our own country, our homes, our religions and for the beliefs and actions that have made this country great in its last 163 years.

It is not as easy to arouse crusading American fanaticism for the defense of Sarawak as it would be for the salvation of Okmulgee, Okla.

FACE SHOWDOWN OVER LONGER WORKING WEEK

Industrial Relations Unit and CIO at Odds About Extension of Hours.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The Ohio department of industrial relations and the state CIO council squared off today for a showdown on whether the state should permit industries to work women employes more than the 45 hours a week legal limit.

George A. Strain, industrial relations director who said he had issued 62 temporary permits to industries facing emergency need of disregarding the 45-hour limit, called a meeting here next Thursday to air the question.

Ted F. Silvey, Ohio CIO secretary-treasurer, said in a bulletin to council members and officials that he "vigorously protested" to Strain against relaxation of the law. Silvey urged local unions to attend the Jan. 29 meeting.

Silvey's bulletin declared that Strain "is willing not only to blink at violations of the law, but has lent himself actively to set aside a law he has sworn to enforce."

Strain countered that his department had "adopted a policy of cooperation in the war which is the duty of every individual" and that "the soldiers and marines in the Philippines are not working under an eight-hour law."

This was an emergency which had to be met," he added.

Although Silvey contended that "there are plenty of unemployed people available," Strain said most available labor was unskilled and could not be used without extended training to keep war industry production lines on schedule.

Strain said that although he had issued 62 temporary permits to Ohio industries, he had refused to grant almost as many and that those given would not be renewed unless the industries affected had taken steps to meet the emergency by securing or training labor to meet their needs.

Silvey's bulletin declared that "while organized labor is contributing enthusiastically and effectively to the war program, a certain group of manufacturers is using the secretary to destroy existing labor legislation."

After serving the Mansfield postoffice for longer than present employes can remember, an antiquated old paper-distributing case in the mailing room was relegated to the basement to be stored as "surplus" equipment yesterday, until it can be pressed into service elsewhere. Postal inspectors referred to it as "junk" when they were making their rounds yesterday, and had a shiny new wooden case with 54 separations sent to replace the venerable old piece, which employes were not sorry to lose.

Reading air raid precautions while living hundreds of miles from a shoreline vulnerable to attack is one thing and hearing them repeated orally time after time while right on the spot is another. Harold McCuen, just home, from the east coast, said today he was breathing more easily than he had for the past few weeks during a joint engagement in New England with his partner, Donald Scott-Morrison. Every one of their "conversation conectrs" McCuen said, was prefaced with a recital of air raid precautions and other information that would benefit in case of just such an emergency.

Student fingers at the one-room school houses in Richland county are just as busy plying knitting needles for Red Cross war relief as they are in the city. The knitters at Forest Hall and Pavonia have completed their apprenticeship on afghan blocks and are now starting to make sweaters. Mrs. Nina Paxton and Mrs. Dorothy Miller, teachers at Forest Hall and Pavonia, respectively, have been in charge of the work since volunteer knitters from the Red Cross office gave the instructions.

Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals is a firm believer in publicity but is shying away from it at present. The reason is that no accidents have occurred in the city for the past 75 hours and Boals fears that any mention of the record will bring bad luck. So far as he can remember, this is the first time in several years that no accidents have been recorded over so long a period.

HOUSE UNIT HITS POWERS OF HENDERSON

Call for Board of Review Snags Conference With Senate Group.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A sudden and vigorous attack by some house conferees upon "dictator powers" contained in the price control bill today delayed an agreement in a senate-house conference seeking to harmonize differences between the two bodies.

Conference laeders again voiced hope for an agreement as sessions were resumed today. One conferee said:

"If we really start to move we move fast, but the dam hasn't been broken yet."

The house group demand was said to be for a board of review over price-fixing orders of Price Administrator Leon Henderson, a limitation of his broad power to buy and sell commodities, and modification of the licensing provisions.

Despite denials of any agreements, it was reliably reported that the conferees were reconciled to inclusion of the Bankhead amendment, giving Secretary of Agriculture Wickard veto power over farm price fixing; abandonment of the O'Mahoney wage parity amendment, and acceptance, perhaps in modified form, of the American prohibiting fixing of agricultural commodity prices below the 1919-1929 level.

While the senate conferees included a majority of stalwart administration men, except for the question of farm prices, the house group was said to be split on nonpartisan lines. The senate group includes Sens. Brown (D) Mich., Barkley (D) Ky., Glass (D) Va., and Bankhead (D) Ala.

Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich. was leading a fight for adoption of the house provisions for a board of review. While the house created a one-man price administrator, it made his rulings subject to a board.

"The licensing provisions are much too broad and should be modified," said Wolcott.

Some conferees also asserted that the buying and selling powers were so broad that the price administrator, by purchasing huge quantities of farm products and dumping them on the market, could defeat the efforts of the "farm bloc" to write "floors" under farm prices in the bill.

COMMON COIN

Treasury Hopes for Export Currency for Hemisphere.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., today said that the treasury hopes that the American republics and Canada will agree upon a common unit of currency to be used in settling export trade accounts.

Any agreement reached by the American republics might be extended to all countries outside the Axis, Morgenthau said. The common unit might be the dollar or a new unit, Morgenthau said, adding that it might be based upon gold or silver.

A resolution has been introduced at the Rio De Janeiro Pan-American conference proposing that financial representatives of the Republics later meet to consider stabilization of currency within the hemisphere.

PROBING DAMAGE AT GERMAN FARM

Police Investigate Vandalism Near Cleveland.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Police today were investigating destruction by vandals of property at the German Central farm in suburban Parma, where damage was caused to the extent of several hundred dollars.

Dozens of windows, doors, mirrors and fixtures were smashed by the marauders who used clubs and rifles.

A rifle range at the German Central farm several months ago was alleged to have been used to train Nazi Bundists. Its former president, Dr. Herbert S. Reichle, who was dismissed from his post as pathologist at City hospital was accused of being a Nazi sympathizer.

DEATH CLAIMS J. M. OTTINGER

Former County Clerk, Widely Known In Masonic Circles, Dies At Hospital.

James M. Ottinger, 77, former Richland county clerk of courts and widely known in Masonic lodge circles, died at 6 p. m. Wednesday at General hospital after a brief illness. He lived at 216 West Dickson avenue.

Born near Butler, March 31, 1864, Mr. Ottinger lived in Mansfield for 59 years, coming here when he was 18. He retired several years ago after working in the insurance business during the later active years of his life.

He was a railway mail clerk and clerk in the Mansfield postoffice for a number of years. His public life included two terms as clerk of courts and a period as deputy in the county auditor's office. He was in the clerk's office from 1909 to 1913.

Mr. Ottinger enjoyed his lodge work and for years was a member of the Masonic committee to visit sick members. He was known and liked by scores of members of the various Masonic bodies in the city through his offices in the lodges and his welfare work.

He was past worshipful master of Venus lodge 152, member of Mansfield chapter 28, Royal Arch Masons; past illustrious companion of Mansfield Council 94, and past commander of Mansfield Commandery 21, Knights Templar. For the past several years he was secretary of Venus lodge.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Friday at the Finefrock funeral home in charge of the Venus lodge and Mansfield Commandery. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Surviving are one step-son, Homer Howard of Washington, D. C., and a niece, Mrs. Charles Remy of Mansfield.

FRANK SOMMER DIES IN N. J.

Former Mansfielder to Be Buried At Lexington Tomorrow.

Friends here learned today of the death Tuesday in Jersey City, N. J., of Frank Sommer 53, a former resident of Mansfield. He had been ill for several weeks.

Surviving are one brother, Roy F. of New York City; and four cousins in Mansfield, W. J. Beer, sr., Charles B. Beer, Mrs. L. H. Porch and Mrs. J. H. Miller.

The body will arrive in Mansfield at 4:20 p. m. today and will be taken to the Wappner funeral home where Rev. James L. Boyer, pastor of the United Brethren church, will conduct services tomorrow at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Lexington cemetery.

SEEKS WRIT

MT. GILEAD—The U. J. Cover Seed company of Mt. Gilead, asked the court of appeals today for a writ of mandamus to compel State Agricultural Director John T. Brown to issue a license to the company to sell seeds this year. The company said it had applied for the $5 license but that Brown had refused to act on the application.

Judge Frank W. Geiger issued an alternative writ, requiring Brown to issue a license or show cause why he had not by Feb. 2.

GRIEF-STRICKEN, GABLE REFUSES TO RETURN TO 'LONELY HOUSE'

(By International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD — Grief-stricken over the fate of his wife, beautiful Carole Lombard who died in the service of her country when a passenger airliner crashed in flames on a Nevada mountainside, Clark Gable today was in seclusion at the home of friends.

The actor refused to return to the San Fernando Valley ranch home where he and his glamorous actress-wife had spent three years of happy married life in which they rarely were apart.

"I can't go back to that lonely house," Gable repeatedly said during the long hours of his agonizing vigil at Las Vegas when he hoped against hope that rescue parties who struggled up Double or Nothing mountain might find his wife and 21 other occupants of the crashed plane miraculously unharmed.

Intimates of the actor said that he has no immediate plans. Officials of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios where Gable is one of the company's biggest stars announced that production on his new picture, "Somewhere I'll Find You," has been suspended indefinitely.

The actor's friends generally believed that after a lengthy vacation and perhaps a trip to some spot where he can find privacy and solace, Gable will return to picture work because Miss Lombard would have wanted him to.

The tragic finale to the actress' trip to Indianapolis to participate in a defense bond rally at the request of the government took place late yesterday in Forest Lawn Memorial Park when joint funeral services for Miss Lombard and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Peters, who also perished in the crash, were held.

Mother and daughter were entombed side by side in the Sanctuary of Trust, adjoining the Memorial Court of Honor where rest such screen figures as Will Rogers, Jean Harlow, Irving Thalberg, Marie Dressler and Douglas Fairbanks.

DRIVERS FLEE

Police Hunt Motorists Whose Cars Hit Pole, Gas Pump.

Mansfield police today were seeking two motorists whose cars crashed into an electric light pole and a gasoline pump in separate accidents last night. They fled without reporting the mishaps to police.

One of the drivers struck a light pole at the intersection of East Second and Oak streets, breaking off a large piece of his fender in the crash. The pole was badly damaged and Ohio Public Service company workers were called out to repair it.

Police also found a gasoline pump knocked from its foundation at the Sinclair gas station at the intersection of Third and Diamond streets. They reported that the pump had been knocked loose and was thrown into the driveway of the service station.

WILL DISCUSS HOUSING

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A three-day regional conference of the national association of housing officials, sponsored by the office of emergency management, opens today in Toledo, with post-war housing, management and maintenance to be discussed.

DAYS WITH LIFE FOR SHOOTING

Thompson Dies in Chair Leaving Death Row Empty.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Ohio penitentiary's "death row" was empty today.

Its most recent occupant, Wayne Thompson, 24, died in the electric chair last night. Thompson had a prayer on his lips as he walked to the chair and paid with his life for the fatal shooting last April of Carl Hoover, Columbus grocer. He was pronounced dead at 8:10 p. m.

Thompson ate his last meal with two convict acquaintances, a life termer and a man convicted of armed robbery.

FARMERS MEET

Weller-Mifflin-Franklin Farm Institute Opens Friday.

The Weller-Mifflin-Franklin Farmers' institute will get under way at 1:30 p. m., Friday at the Union Rural high school in Weller township. There will be sessions Friday afternoon and night and Saturday morning and afternoon.

Speakers will include Mrs. Lester J. Utz of New Washington and B. O. Skinner of Marysville, state institute lecturers; Miss Elizabeth Bay, county home demonstration agent; County Agent George B. Gangard, and Miss Isabel Berry, educational director for the Ohio Public Service company.

The Franklin Epworth league will present a three-act play, "The Improper Henry Propper," at 8:p. m., Saturday in the school auditorium for the benefit of the institute.

Music during the sessions will be provided by pupils in the Union Rural schools and from the Smart studio in Mansfield. Ronald Boffenmeyer, a magician, will appear on the Friday evening program.

BENDER, YOUNG BOTH TO RUN

Will Seek Re-election As Ohio Congressman-At-Large.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's two congressmen-at-large, Stephen M. Young, (D) and George H. Bender (R) both of Cleveland, will seek re-election.

Young some time ago announced he would do so, and Bender today obtained nominating petitions for his candidacy from the secretary of state.

This year Ohio will elect only one congressman-at-large instead of two, the state having lost one representative by the apportionment under the 1940 census.

Declares Press Builds American Unity Toward War

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Walter D. Fuller, chairman of the board of the National Association of Manufacturers, credited the American press today with having created a national unity which will make the nation invincible in war.

Asserting that "through our free press every section of the nation has been put together with a web of understanding and discussion, Fuller told the Philadelphia Rotary club, "that sort of national unity is bound to succeed."

"The printing press has put real steam in the defense bond, the Red Cross and similar campaigns," he said, "and the public responds because it knows if these were not worthy efforts the American press would say so."

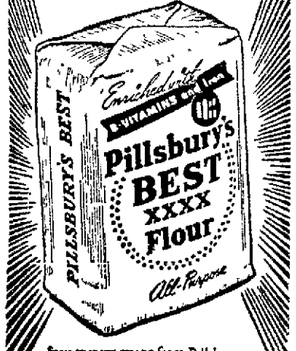
How to make Pillsbury's

Prune-Filled Coffee Cake

In good taste morning, noon, or night!

Complete recipe:

1 Sift and measure 2 c Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour (Two B-vitamins and iron are added to this fine flour, with no change in flavor, color, or baking quality.) Add 2 tsps baking powder (or 2 tsps. double-acting) ½ tsp salt, and 3 c sugar, sift twice. (The rich cream of tartar in Pillsbury's Best is mixed by hand instead of using milling.) 2. Cut in ¼ c shortening until quite fine. 3 Add enough milk to 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten to measure about ¾ c. Add to dry ingredients, mixing until all flour is dampened. 4 Knead lightly on a floured board a few seconds (and be ready for a perfect Coffee Cake. For success using the vitamin-enriched flour, the flour must be tested by actual baking 4 to 5 times a day during milling!) 5 Roll out to 12 x 10 in. rectangle. Brush with melted butter, sprinkle with this filling: 6 Combine ¾ c. chopped cooked prunes, ½ c. raisins, ½ c. chopped dried apricots, dash of salt, ¼ c. water, ½ c. sugar and ½ tsp. cinnamon in saucepan. Cook until thick. Chill thoroughly. 7. Spread ½ of filling on center ⅓ of dough. Overlap ⅓ of dough on filling. Spread with rest of filling. Over top of filling lap rest of dough. Moisten edges and seal. 8 Place on greased baking sheet. With sharp knife make diagonal gashes on both sides of roll, 1 in. apart. 9 Gently cut each cut section at a slight angle. 10 Brush with egg white, unbeaten combined with 2 tsps water. Sprinkle with 1 Tbsp. sugar combined with ½ tsp cinnamon and ½ c. chopped blanched almonds. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 15 to 20 min. This delicious Pillsbury coffee cake can be baked quick—there's no wait for dough to rise. Why not get a bag of Pillsbury's Best from your grocer and bake a delicious Prune Filled Coffee Cake this very day.



Save THRIFT STARS from Pillsbury packages. They're good for sterling (solid) silver — other premiums, too! For list, write Pillsbury Flour, Minneapolis.

PATROL CARRIES ON VARIETY OF EXTRA DUTIES

Mansfield Substation Keeps Busy Aiding Motorists and Even Livestock.

In addition to patrolling state highways in the Mansfield area, patrolmen at the Mansfield substation of the state highway patrol aid and protect the motorist in various other ways which are seldom known to the average motorist.

One example of the service given to motorist by highway patrolmen is the fact that unless a patrol car is making an emergency call, patrolmen never pass a stranded motorist.

"If we can help him we do so, otherwise we call a garage," said Corp. C. F. Strayer of the Mansfield station. "Often we notice that the alligator-type hoods on the newer model cars have become unlatched, so we stop the motorist and notify him in order to prevent what might result in an accident," he added, saying that the hood might be thrust up in front of the driver and cause an accident.

Highway patrolmen are also equipped to and trained to give competent first-aid at the scene of an injury accident until a physician or an ambulance arrive

Not among the least of their duties is keeping highways free of strayed livestock, which creates another highway hazard In such cases, highway patrolmen, upon being informed of wandering cattle or horses notify the owner and advise him to get them off the roads.

Helpful persons often call in information about matters which is not included in the duties and privileges of the state highway patrol, but their pleas or suggestions are never ignored

"We relay all calls outside our jurisdiction to their proper sources immediately," said Strayer.

Among other public services, patrolmen are prepared to give safety talks, and talks on the work of the state highway patrol before schools clubs and other civic groups Before the war an average of 12 talks per month were given before such groups, but now they are almost too busy to schedule so many talks.

NICKEL WON'T BE NICKEL ANYMORE

WASHINGTON — (LP) — War and priorities have finally caught up with the nickel—the magic touchstone that operates the telephone, the subway turnstile, the juke-box, the vending machine and other prime essentials of American civilization.

The old nickel was three-fourths nickel and one-fourth copper; the new nickel will be one-half silver and one-half copper.

A senate judiciary sub-committee voted to take the nickel out of the nickel at the request of Donald M. Nelson, the nation's war production chief. He feels that the silvery-white metal can be put to better use in the bombers and heavy artillery fighting the Axis powers.

PAID PUPILS

23 In High School Sales Class Earn $809 During Month.

Twenty-three pupils in the distributive education class at Mansfield Senior high school earned a total of $809 last month in Mansfield business places while they were learning salesmanship and other commercial trades, according to John Stout, co-ordinator of distributive education at the school.

The pupils earned an average of $9 per week in 15 business establishments, mostly retail stores. They worked a total of 1376 hours during December for an average wage of 26 cents an hour.

Pupils in the class work on Saturdays and in their time away from school, helping them to earn their school expenses and gain experience in the trades that interest them.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT TROOPS BECOME 'OUR BOYS' TO HOMES ON COAST

(By Associated Press)

SEATTLE—Anti-aircraft troops stationed strategically about the Pacific northwest have become "our boys" to the populace of towns and the cross-roads.

How many of the "ack-ack" boys are on duty, how many guns they have and where they are stationed, of course, are military secrets, but it's no secret that the housewives are beating paths to their dugout doors with cake, cookies and other treats.

A tour of a sector of the defense front showed observers that the lads of this new citizen army definitely have caught on with the home folks.

A farmhouse even fell to a unit at one rural spot. The men had been billeted in floor-less tents in disagreeable winter weather. When a family moved out of a nearby farmhouse, the owner went to the sergeant in command and asked:

"Wouldn't you boys be more comfortable in the house?"

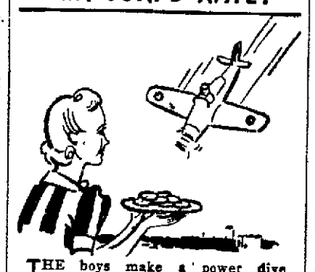
Even a top sergeant couldn't argue over that suggestion.

"I don't think I can find another tenant," the farmer explained, "and I know you boys will keep the house from running down."

The comfortable soldiers, enjoying electric lights and furnace heat, have pleased the landlord because the farm is kept in apple pie order.

Not many command posts have been as lucky, but at least one has been more ingenious. With an architect for a captain, they constructed a small barracks out of nine aviation engine packing cases. Windows contributed by the country folk brought light inside to match the modern design of the outside.

AIR CORPS KATE!



THE boys make a power dive straight for Kate when she brings out their favorite Rumford Chocolate Cake or Cookies. No air-pockets in Rumford texture . . . no alum to spoil flavor. Try Rumford. Don't Neglect Slipping
FALSE TEETH
Do false teeth drop, slip or wabble when you talk, eat, laugh or sneeze? Don't be annoyed and embarrassed by such handicaps. FASTEETH, an alkaline (non-acid) powder to sprinkle on your plates, keeps false teeth more firmly set. Gives confident feeling of security and added comfort. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

Disinfect WHEN YOU WASH
In winter it's important to disinfect clothes — handkerchiefs, towels, bed linens, children's clothes. Use Roman Cleanser to disinfect as well as to whiten your clothes. It's easy to use, economical. Directions on label.
Roman Cleanser is a wash-day favorite in 1,000,000 homes. Try it next wash-day — you'll like the crisp freshness it gives to clothes dried inside.

1—Death Notices

OTTINGER

James M., 77 years of age, 216 West Dickson Ave., died at the Mansfield General hospital Wednesday evening. The body was removed to the Finefrock Funeral Home where friends may call. Masonic services will be conducted Friday at 3:00. Burial will be made in the Mansfield cemetery. (Finefrock Funeral Home.) (L-22)

SOMMER

Frank, 53, son of Frederick and Josephine, former residents of Mansfield, passed away Tuesday in Jersey City, N. J., after several weeks' illness. Friends may call at the Wappner Funeral Home. Services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock with Rev. James L. Boyer, pastor of the United Brethren church, officiating. Burial will be made in the Lexington, Ohio, cemetery. (Wappner Funeral Directors.) (L-22)

2—Card of Thanks

WE WISH to express our sincere appreciation to friends and neighbors for their kindness, sympathy, and floral tributes. Rev. Paul Saleste for his consoling words and to the Wappner Funeral Home for their efficient service during the loss of our beloved husband, father and brother.

COLONEL CAREY SAYS IT'S QUITE OKAY WITH HIM AND, REALLY, THE COLONEL'S WORK IS SO LIGHT RIGHT NOW, IT'D BE NO TROUBLE AT ALL DOING A FEW MORE LETTERS A DAY
WONDER WHY MR. WENTWORTH DOESN'T GET A PUBLIC STENOGRAPHER ? MAYBE HE DOESN'T KNOW ABOUT THEM. HE'S A SNAPPY DRESSER! WONDER WHAT BUSINESS HE'S IN ?
SHE CERTAINLY IS A-HONEY! —AND, UNLESS MY GUESS IS ALL WRONG, SHE'LL NEED A LOT OF-PERSUADING!!

JUDGE PUFFLE— By Gene Ahern

I'VE BEEN HIDING OUT, POP, UNTIL MY MUSTACHE GROWED BACK. I CUT IT OFF WITH A HACK-SAW, SO I COULD JINE THE ARMY.
BUT THEY TURNED ME DOWN FOR BEING 6! WHY, DAD BURN IT, A MAN JUST GETS TO FIGHTIN' AGE AT 60, OUT IN 'HANG-KNOT' / THAT'S WHEN HIS BLOOD STARTS TO SHOW TRACES OF ORE THAT GIVE HIS SKIN A GUN-METAL FINISH !
YOU'RE JUST THE LAD, TERRY, FOR MY TWO-MAN ARMY!

RAILS REVIVE AFTER BOOST IN FARE RATE

Other Recently Shaky Groups Steadied; Bank Clearings Continue Increase.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Buyers returned to the rails in today's stock market and quiet strength here helped steady other recently shaky groups.

Rails apparently revived in the wake of the interstate commerce commission's action in granting the roads a 10 per cent increase in passenger fares.

Prominent on the advance were Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and Chesapeake & Ohio. Modest improvement was registered by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Woolworth.

A bit backward were American Telephone, General Electric, Chrysler, General Motors, Western Union and United Aircraft.

Broadroom saw further confirmation of sustained momentum in industry through a perusal of the Dun & Bradstreet survey disclosing bank clearings in 23 cities for the week ended Wednesday were 22.7 per cent above the comparable 1941 period and 9.6 per cent larger than in the preceding week.

Suffered With Kidney, Bladder Trouble For Twenty Years, Bee Bee's Gave Relief

Claims his sleep was broken several times each night by disturbing nightly risings; Suffered severe pains across kidneys. Thanks Bee Bee's for splendid results.

"For nearly twenty years I had so much trouble with my kidneys and bladder that I thought I might never recover," says Mr. Thomas Cochran, Republic, Ohio.

"I took different treatments but received only temporary relief. I had sharp catches across my kidneys. These pains or (catches) were the worst when I got up in the morning, and when I had one of these attacks, I couldn't work or hardly do anything until I moved around. If I bent over to pick up something, it seemed as if the misery in my back would lay me out.

MR. THOMAS COCHRAN

"I had to arise seven or eight times at night and when I got back to my room, I felt so weak that I would fall back into bed. My urine looked bad and burned like fire. Sometimes the urine was too free and at other times it was too scanty. I also had pains in my prostate gland and in my neck.

"I took Bee Bee's and now I seldom have to get up more than once at night. I sleep well and feel fine and full of energy when I get up in the morning. Pains across my back and other above miseries were relieved and I feel twenty years younger. I have recommended Bee Bee's to others who were ailing like me and I will continue to spread the good word about Bee Bee's. It's a grand, effective medicine.

Greater Usefulness For You . . . . In 1942

CHANGE is the rule of life, and banking methods, too, change with the times. But there has been no change in the one original purpose of The Farmers Savings and Trust Co., to provide a safe, conservative and convenient place where the people may save and borrow money, and protect their other property with benefit to themselves and their community.

Today, as always, you find the Farmers Bank ready to help with the ordinary as well as the unusual money and credit problems of this community. Savings accounts for building up reserves; personal and business loans to meet debts and encourage thrift; checking service for safe, convenient payment of payrolls and personal bills; experienced trust management . . . these are just a few of the many banking services we perform every day.

For your own advantage, we invite you to use these modern banking facilities in 1942.
